Shots Exchangd In Area

Settlement Bids Awaited In Steelhaulers' Protest

Hopes for a settlement of the seven-week trucker strike and a halt to highway violence rested today on court action at Cleveland and a governor's meeting at Pittsburgh Monday.

An exchange of gunfire in California Hollow Thursday afternoon and reported shootings and vandalism yesterday and today marked the area highway situation.

A FEDERAL court order was to be sought today at Cleveland in an effort to stop the sniping and rock throwing which has marked the seven-state protest strike.

Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond Shaffer, who has invited governors of the strike - hit states to Monday's meeting, said he will attend "to get the true facts behind the protest."

Sniping at six rigs hauling steel from the Crucible Steel Co.'s Midland Division brought return fire from the rigs Thursday afternoon about 2 on the former Route 30 paralleling the Freeway.

Sheriff's deputies said a large crowd and many cars were at the scene near the Route 170 junction when they arrived.

They said the steel trucks had passed through East Liverpool from Midland and were proceeding west up the hill toward Route 170 when someone fired a rifle from behind a billboard on the north side of the highway.

The shot flattened a rear tire on the last trailer and the entire convoy stopped. Robert Galliger of Industry, Pa., said to be the owner of the rigs, was following in an automobile.

Deputies said they learned Galliger had a shotgun, jumped out of his sedan and fired at the billboard. Several men on both sides had guns, and a standoff developed from hillsides on either side of the road. Deputies said people told them there were "lots of guns," but the officers said there were none in sight when they arrived.

A woman called the sheriff's office at 2:05 p. m. to report fighting at old 30 and 170.

DEPUTIES said the crowd obeyed orders to disperse and the convoy proceeded north on Route 7 to Youngstown after the flat tire was replaced.

Ohio Highway Patrol cruisers and Sheriff's cars patrolled the highway and radioed Mahoning County authorities to patrol against possible trouble across the line.

Shortly after the incident, a truck-strike picket filed charges in eastern area court against Galliger who reportedly punched him in the face.

David O. Wilkinson of Wooster Ave., East Liverpool, charged that Galliger unlawfully threatened him in a menacing manner and unlawfully assaulted him.

Galliger and his rigs were in Mahoning County by the time Eastern Court issued a warrant for his arrest. The defendant cannot be extradited since the alleged offense is a misdemeanor.

A meeting was being held at Pittsburgh today by the heads of about 30 trucking firms nagged by the steelhaulers' strike in an effort to find a solution to the dispute.

The striking owner-operators have been pressing trucking firms in seven states for nearly two months in hopes they'll ask the Teamsters Union to reopen contract negotiations.

The strikers say their needs have been ignored by the Teamsters, but so far the union hasn't sat down with trucking firms.

The office of Gov. James A. Rhodes reported today that the attorney general's office will adopt a "wait and see" attitude before taking part in any court action in the strike by independent steel haulers.

A representative of the attorney general's office was to have gone into federal court in Cleveland today to join the national steelhaulers in asking for a federal court injunction to prohibit strike violence.

John McElroy, the governor's aide, said the Hobbs' Act under which the proposed action was to have been taken, "does not now seem the instrument to provide the proper grounds for action in this case."

"The Hobbs Act is a federal criminal statute providing penalties for interfering with commerce by threats or violence.

Much of the decision not to go to federal court at once, McElroy said, is based on what he

Despite LBJ's New Tax Hike Plea

Congress Stands Ground On Spending Cut Demand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite another plea from President Johnson and a federal freeze on its pet public works projects, Congress shows no signs of increasing taxes before spending is slashed.

The administration added a new ingredient in the weeks-long test of wills between the President and Congress by suspending indefinitely some $3.5 billion worth of military building and civil public works programs.

The freeze, announced by the Defense Department, came as Johnson again laid responsibility for budget cutting on the congressional doorstep and said taxes should be raised to stifle inflation.

The public works freeze drew praise from Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, as "the kind of thing that's required."

To some congressional observers the freeze appeared an indication Johnson is beginning to yield to pressure that he take responsibility for cutting back or eliminating programs popular with hometown voters.

The stalemate over who should cut spending involves in part the determination by Congress not to be saddled with the blame for such cuts.

Byrnes cautioned, however, that the freeze could be lifted at any time since the money for such Army Engineers civil projects as flood-control dams, dikes and harbor improvements already has been appropriated.

"We'll need some assurances this isn't just window dressing," he said in an interview.

Johnson's renewed contention that Congress shouldn't delay action on his tax hike proposal until spending has been cut left apparently unmoved Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee.

"Unless there is substantial cutting in spending programs, I don't see how we can justify a tax increase," said Mills.

Byrnes took a harder line. "The President apparently hasn't got the message. The committee and the House sent a very clear message that spending must be cut."

Byrnes said the President determines spending priorities in sending Congress the budget.

"We need a new schedule of spending priorities and he better send us one soon," he warned.

Johnson told a hastily called news conference Thursday that failure to enact his tax boost proposal would feed an inflationary spiral he said would ultimately cost taxpayers far more than higher taxes.

He cited increased interest rates on short-term Treasury bills and high home mortgage and personal loan interest rates as indications a tax hike is needed to block inflation.

Noting Congress has passed only 4 of 14 appropriations bills in the first nine months of the session, the President said the administration can't intelligently decide where to cut spending until it knows how much money Congress intends to provide.

Stiff Fight In House Expected

Senate OKs Poverty Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's antipoverty bill has cleared the Senate with surprising ease but backers expect a far stiffer fight in the House.

The $4.66 billion, two-year extension of President Johnson's so-called "War on Poverty" drew strong bipartisan backing on Thursday's showdown vote after 11 days of debate.

The 60-21 tally sent the measure to the House where a quarreling Education and Labor Committee already is at work on it.

In addition to anticipated efforts in the House to slash the bill's total, a bid to break up the Office of Economic Opportunity, which runs the program, also is expected.

The Senate-passed total is equivalent to $155 over a two-year period for each of the 30 million Americans the administration says live in poverty.

Forty-one Democrats and 19 Republicans supported the extension bill and 9 Democrats and 12 Republicans voted against it.

The 39-vote margin represented a bigger majoriy than Senate antipoverty legislation won in 1965, when the vote was 61 to 29, or in 1966 when it was 49 to 20. The bill only authorizes the program. Separate legislation appropriating funds is under consideration.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., floor manager for the bill, said he was glad the Senate had given the bill some "wiggle room" by setting the OEO authorization for the present year at $2.258 billion, or $198 million more than Johnson asked.

Clark said this offers the opportunity for compromises with the House.

The Senate bill would provide funds for all present antipoverty projects including the Job Corps, Neighborhood Youth Corps, Community Action—which covers such programs as Head Start for preschool children—rural loans and aid to migrant workers plus assistance for small business in poverty-stricken areas.

The measure also contains several new features, such as day care for children of working mothers, a followup program to Head Start, incentives to private companies to train the hard-core unemployed and authority for local Community Action agencies to decide how half of the more than $1 billion allotted to Community Action shall be spent.

Astronaut Killed When Jet Crashes

Major In Marines Said He Wanted To Be First On Moon

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — An American astronaut who said he wanted to be first on the moon and specialized in the craft that will make the trip was killed Thursday when his T38 jet trainer plowed into a hilltop near the Florida-Georgia border.

Marine Corps Maj. Clifton C. Williams Jr., 35, a member of the nation's third generation of astronauts, was flying alone from Cape Kennedy to Houston Manned Space Center by way of Mobile, Ala., where his father was reported ill.

Williams radioed the distress mayday signal about 2 p.m., and 10 minutes later a helicopter rescue crew from Moody Air Force Base at nearby Valdosta, Ga., arrived at the scene on a plantation near Miccosukee, Fla., 15 miles north of here.

"The plane disintegrated and the body disintegrated with it," said Air Force Maj. Joe Johnson of Moody.

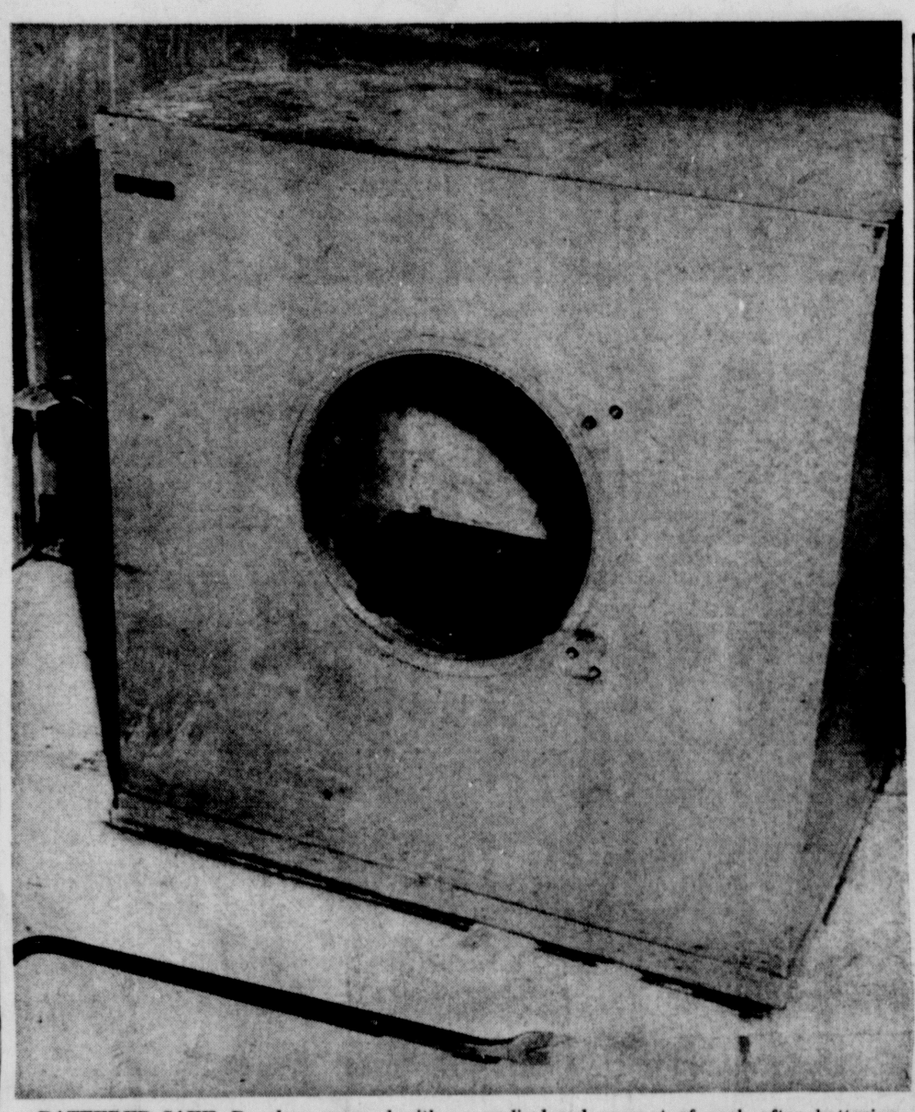
Johnson said the fiery plane dove down so straight it singed trees but plunged between pines 100 feet apart without touching them.

A board of inquiry headed by the first American spaceman, Navy Capt. Alan B. Shepard, was named to investigate the crash by James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The closest Williams came to rocketing into space was as backup pilot for last year's Gemini 10 mission. Since then he had specialized in working on the Lunar Module, the craft that is to carry two Apollo astronauts to a landing on the moon.

Like the other astronauts, Williams was eager for space flight.

"I'd like to go on every one," Williams had said. "Of course, if you said which mission I would most like to have, I'd say the first lunar flight you can make from the standpoint of personal satisfaction and accomplishment."



BATTERED SAFE. Burglars escaped with an undisclosed amount of cash after battering and burning their way into this safe early today at Billingsley's Foodland at the St. Clair Shopping Plaza. Deputies who investigated said the intruders took all the currency, but left some checks scattered on the floor.

Pros Did It, According To Deputies

Currency Removed From Strongbox, Checks Scattered

Burglars battered and burned their way into a safe at Billingsley's Foodland in the St. Clair Shopping Plaza near Calcutta early this morning and escaped with an unknown amount of cash.

Deputy Sheriffs Herman (Cy) Wellman and Dan Gartland were completing their investigation late this morning. They said the intruders removed all the currency from the strongbox, but left some checks scattered on the floor.

The burglary was timed between 12:30 and 7 a.m. today. The sheriff's office at Lisbon was advised at 7:05.

Wellman said the burglars gained entrance through a skylight, then moved along trusses supporting the roof to a stairway.

The safe was opened by a combination of three methods—"peeling" the metal covering on the door, drilling at the combination and cutting the metal with an acetylene torch. The safe is located in the food market's office just inside the front door.

Wellman said the intruders left the building by a door after disconnecting the burglar alarm. Nothing else appeared to be disturbed. The burglars did not leave any equipment behind, but the deputies could determine the method of entry by looking at the front of the burned and battered safe.

Wellman commented that the safecracking definitely was the work of professionals.

Blast 2 Targets Near Haiphong

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. pilots are taking advantage of good weather, to get in the heaviest blows they can at two key points where Communist war material enters North Vietnam—the port of Haiphong and railroad lines just below Red China, the U.S. Command said today.

Targets reported hit Thursday included a rail bridge 10 miles from China, a bridge leading out of Haiphong and a major fuel dump near the port. The raiders left a smoke column nearly two miles high at the dump, which had been on the Pentagon's restricted list and was hit for the first time.

It was the third straight day of strikes at rail links in the narrow valleys just south of China and the second of raids on bridges in Haiphong. Other targets included two more fuel dumps in the port area and the MIG airfield at Hoa Lac.

MIG 17s came up to challenge Navy planes striking Haiphong and at least one enemy plane was reported damaged in a brief dogfight. The U.S. Command said one F105 Thunderchief was lost and its pilot was missing.

Only scattered skirmishes were reported in the ground war in South Vietnam but Viet Cong guerrillas stepped up terrorism and assaults in the northern five provinces making up the 1st Corps area south of the demilitarized zone. The Communists appeared to be trying to weaken government control in the thinly held area.

Thirty-eight civilians died when two buses hit mines near Da Nang, a South Vietnamese district headquarters was heavily attacked and a U.S. Marine was killed and 14 wounded.

But the main action was in the skies over the North, where Hanoi claimed six American planes were downed Thursday and a total of 21 since Tuesday. The U.S. Command announced the loss of four planes.

With the scheduled shift in monsoon winds this month promising poor bombing weather over the North, it is evident that U.S. warplanes are trying to damage North Vietnam's supply routes so that they remain disrupted for some time. The list of Pentagon-approved targets has been gradually expanding and air commanders are being given permission for more frequent re-strikes in sensitive areas.

The stepped-up American pressure is meeting intensified barrages of Soviet-built ground-to-air missiles, heavy antiaircraft fire and more frequent encounters with the elusive North Vietnamese air force.

Driver Killed When Truck Takes Plunge

BEAVER — Donald E. Shook, 46, of Aliquippa RD 1, Independence Township, was killed instantly when his pickup truck plunged over a 25-foot embankment Thursday night along Route 151, five miles west of the Five Points intersection.

It was the 40th traffic fatality this year in Beaver County.

Officers said the victim failed to negotiate a curve. The truck cut across the highway, ripped through guardrails and went over the embankment, ending nose down in a small stream.

Mr. Shook was trapped in the wreckage and it required 30 minutes to free the body. He suffered a skull fracture.

Tax Burden Too Heavy

EL DORADO, Kan. (AP) — The tax burden finally became too heavy.

Will Share In Cost Of Work

County, Township Join In Grimms Bridge Job

LISBON — Columbiana County and St. Clair Township will unite in efforts this fall to correct a drainage problem which caused a "slip" last spring on the Grimms Bridge Rd.

One-way traffic was necessary for several weeks during March and April when the slide moved the road.

John Ursu, county engineer, says the cost estimate for replacing 400 feet of road and installing a paved roadside drain and a culvert under the road is $9,448.

The cost will be shared 50-50 by the county and the trustees, but, Ursu said, the trustees will be able to meet their share with a cash outlay of approximately $3,000.

Trustees Robert Simms and David Dray met Thursday with the county commissioners and Ursu at the Courthouse. All parties agreed to the arrangement.

Ursu said the beginning of work is contingent upon his office obtaining a work agreement with the property owner below the slip.

The Columbus Blank Book Co. received a contract to furnish tax return blanks for 1968 for the county auditor on a low bid of $2,950.

Bid Opening Set Today On Bridge Work

The Ohio Highway Department at Columbus was to open bids this afternoon at 2 on emergency repairs to the Ft. Steuben Bridge connecting Steubenville and Weirton.

The department's deputy director, Levi Kimball, head of Division 11 at New Philadelphia, said he has notified city officials of the two communities that five contractors had been interviewed and inspected the condition of the bridge floor.

Work being bid on consists of removing damaged portions of the floor and replacing these areas with new reinforced concrete. Quantities have been estimated, but the actual amount of work will be finally determined as repairs proceed, Kimball said.

An estimate of the completion date will be part of the contractor's bid and will be a factor

Crew Pushes Blacktop Job

Final Coating Set On 5th St. Segment

Crews of the Tri-State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry pushed ahead today with blacktop resurfacing of E. and W. 5th Sts., hoping that weather would permit them to apply the final course of the pavement.

Parking was banned again for the entire length of the project — from Sugar St. to Jefferson St. If the 5th St. phase of the work is completed in time, the contractor will move on to Broadway between E. 5th and 6th Sts. to apply the final course.

Part of the 5th St. phase was completed Thursday, despite rain. The final course of the pavement also must be applied on E. and W. 6th Sts. between Jefferson St. and Broadway.

The only part of the project on which the final course has been applied is Jefferson St. between W. 5th and W. 8th St. Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said the Jefferson St. work is finished except for some minor work on the approaches — the points where alleys and streets intersect the repaved portion.

Since no work was scheduled today on E. and W. 6th Sts., parking and traffic flow was normal on that segment. The work was launched Monday. It was slowed at the outset because rigs hauling aggregate were stopped by dissident truckers and the demands on the company's River Rd. blacktop plant exceed its output.

BUC Summary Given

County Posted Increase In Workers, Pay In '66

Employment and payrolls in Columbiana County showed increases during 1966 according to the annual summary of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation's Division of Research and Statistics.

The 1,055 employers reporting to the BUC showed a 4.1 per cent rise in workers and a 6.6 per cent boost in total pay for the year.

All major classifications showed increases except mining and quarrying which had a decline of 9.5 per cent in employment and 1.9 per cent in payrolls.

Other classifications, with the percentage of gain in employment and payrolls listed in that order, were:

Contract construction 16.2 and 28.9; Manufacturing 1.5 and 4.6; Transportation and Utilities 18.6 and 8.5; Wholesale and Retail Trade 4.3 and 7; Finance, Insurance and Real Estate 11.3 and 16.5, and Services 11.6 and 13.2.

The firms covered had an average total of 19,555 workers last year, and reported a total yearly payroll of $106.2 million.

THE REPORT does not cover such groups as agricultural labor, interstate railroads, government and domestic service, certain non-profit organizations and employers with fewer than three workers.

The latest report from the BUC showed a civilian workforce of 33,850 in the county for August, 1967. This figure included an estimated 32,250 employed persons and some 1,500 (625 women) looking for work.

Unemployment constituted 4.4 per cent of the labor force.

Three out of ten employed residents traveled to jobs elsewhere (1960 Census). Of the persons working in the county during August, one-third were in manufacturing. Leading industries are nonelectrical machinery, stone-clay-glass, fabricated metals, furniture, printing and publishing, primary metals, paper, and food.

Items turned out include chinaware, refractory products, firebrick, sewer pipe, structural and drain tile, rolling mills, pumps, rubberworking machinery, heat treating equipment, industrial grinding mills, blenders, vacuum dryers, kitchen equipment, plumbing fixtures, hydraulic valves, storage tanks, upholstered furniture, calenders, potato chips and pretzels.

AMONG the men seeking work through the local offices of the Ohio State Employment Service, almost two-fifths were registered for miscellaneous jobs and one-eighth were in machine trades.

One-ninth were clerical or sales personnel and similar proportions were recorded in both the structural work and farming and related categories. Nearly nine-tenths were not yet 45.

A number had been material handlers, stores laborers, and foundry workers. Also available were service - station attendants, heavy and tractor-trailer truck drivers, cleaners, and porters.

One-half of the women were qualified for clerical or sales jobs, one-fourth were service personnel, and one-ninth were grouped in the miscellaneous category. Two out of three were under 35.

Some had been dippers and finishers in pottery concerns and others were general office, general, and sales clerks. Also in supply were cashiers, clerk-typists, waitresses, and nursemaids. In demand are teachers, registered and licensed practical nurses, medical technicians, stenographers, nurse aides, short order cooks, cooks, housekeepers to live in, and domestics.

Thomson Reveals He Said 'No' To New York Offer

TOKYO (AP) — Britain's Lord Thomson, publisher of 169 newspapers around the world, said he couldn't succeed in the New York City evening newspaper field even if someone gave him a paper. And he said one had been offered him.

Thomson, speaking at the Tokyo Foreign Correspondents Club, said he had been offered the now defunct World Journal Tribune for nothing if he would assume its financial responsibilities.

He said he seriously had considered the offer, but at last, reluctantly, turned it down.

The native of Canada, now a British citizen and a peer, said newspaper labor unions made it impossible for any independent publisher to succeed in New York, in his opinion.

"The New York Times and Daily News make so much money they can afford the union's demands," he said. "Any evening paper must also be able to meet them."

Father And Son Fined On Intoxication Cases

The officers reported to the court that the police department "received three calls that these men were ganging up on strangers and beating them." The officers said Paul Baker said he and his son attacked the passersby "because we didn't like their looks."

Both had been free on bonds of $107.50 pending the hearings today.

Monthly Report Includes Day Of 'Killing Frost'

A low of 29 degrees on Sept. 25 was classified as a partial killing frost by Edwin Copeland, U.S. Weather Observer at Millport, in his September report.

The frost struck mostly in the lower areas, he noted.

A great deal of moisture is in the ground for fall planting, Copeland said, though the average rainfall for the month was 2.41 inches, .53 of an inch below the average amount for September (2.94 inches). Total rainfall for 1967 to date is 29.10 inches. The average rainfall for a similar period is 29.44 inches.

In a "hide - and - seek" display of autumn sunshine, eight cloudy, six partly cloudy and 16 clear days were logged. The average amount of sunshine is 65 per cent, Copeland said, but September was a bit "under the weather" with a 60 per cent showing.

A high of 83 degrees was recorded on Sept. 18 and the low was 29, the partially killing frost noted by Copeland.

Curb Trucker Turmoil

Use of a Federal court injunction to halt sniping, arson, vandalism and beatings in the current trucker strike should certainly bring to their senses the irresponsible men who have put danger on our highways in recent days.

The full power of a federal injunction is an awesome thing, and any sensible trucker should willingly cease and desist if such an order is issued when sought at Cleveland today.

The time is long overdue for a decisive crackdown against the turmoil and intimidation on the roads.

Thursday afternoon's gunplay in California Hollow and Wednesday's roadblocks in East Liverpool and elsewhere point up the extremes to which the truckers are willing to go.

It is not alone that this infringement upon the rights and safety of others is illegal and are outrages totally unrelated to the issues of steelhauling.

These furtive and overt offenses against peace and order are continuing with little apprehension or punishment, and can too easily serve as an example for similar patterns of labor pressure by unthinking men and women during disputes in the future.

Public streets and highways must be kept open and free from the threat of harm. The normal channels of economic life must not be blocked by disgruntled participant in unauthorized, unrelated strikes.

Law and order must be maintained now and in years to come along the roads of our nation, and if local police and state police are unable to cope with such a widespread problem, then the governors of each state or the courts of the federal government are obligated to provide the kind of protection the present situation demands.

A Man And His Friends

In the case of Carl B. Stokes in Cleveland, as was true of John V. Lindsay in New York, the toughest political problem is how to wriggle free of partisan identity.

Mr. Lindsay became mayor of New York by running as a one-time Republican, but independent of his party. Mr. Stokes won the Democratic primary for mayor against the opposition of his party's organization.

This has become the bold new idea in politics.

The two-party system that once could deliver massed votes to candidates tapped for success by party bosses is as extinct as Whigs and Copperheads.

In its place is the two-idea system, whose form changes from one election to the next. One side proposes, the other side opposes and vice versa. Party labels have nothing to do with it. They are usefuly only in getting a foot into the political door because formal compliance with the party system is incorporated in election law.

Inevitably, the remnants of the party system gravitate to successful candidates. When John Lindsay became mayor of New York City, Republican spokesmen claimed him as one of their own, though they would have forgotten his name if he had lost.

And now Cleveland's Democratic bosses, who did everything they could think of to lick Mr. Stokes and nominate Mayor Locher, are anxious to be friendly to the winner.

In the unspoken but often-thought-of words of Ohio's Frank Lausche, who has made a career of turning his back on Cleveland Democratic bosses, mayoral candidate Stokes is entitled to ask, "What friends?"

Lesson In Elementary Democracy

Nguyen Van Theiu's election as president of South Vietnam has been validated, but that doesn't make it final.

Large numbers of voters turned out in an effort to give birth to quasi-democratic process, but that doesn't mean it will live.

The United States is learning a valuable lesson in elementary democracy.

To force an unfamiliar and confusing form of government on a nation is to ask for failure.

One of the glaring weaknesses of a workable democracy in South Vietnam is the long tradition of local government. Each village had its head man who took care of local problems.

The idea of sending a delegate concerned about local problems to a remote government body under the federal concept must seem rather foolish to South Vietnamese villagers.

As soon as local problems fail to get solutions, or so long as the junta ruling concept continues as in the past, the South Vietnamese villager will shrug his shoulders in a nothing-has-changed attitude and wait for the next crusade to come along.

When it does—with its promise of something better—he will give it his support. It may be a pledge for restoration of the old life, a vow for progressive change; it may be called democracy, or Communism, or self-determination.

The same principle of overthrowing local rule in favor of federal government is giving emerging independent nations in Africa fits. The people know and understand only tribal rule.

Americans taught to revere democracy since childhood cannot see why everyone doesn't jump at the chance to get on the bandwagon. The simple truth is many people don't know what democracy is.

Many South Vietnamese people are uneducated and measure their success or failure by the amount of food on the table every day. Their wants are simple. How can they understand democracy?

Perhaps a democratic society will flourish in South Vietnam. We hope it does. We are willing to give it time.

But if it fails, our government and military leaders must face the question: Was the establishment of a democratic government process in South Vietnam in the interest of the people of that country, or was it to justify the Vietnam War to the American people?

TRUMAN TWILL

Letter From Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: Your Aunt Effie and I went to watch our local gridiron gladiators defend their sacred honor against an invasion of infidels.

It was a stirring experience.

We hadn't been watching football games recently. We didn't know about the vestal virgins screaming incantations and all but immolating themselves. They wowed us.

We didn't know about the serried ranks of warriors, some on crutches, some wearing bandages, the phalanxes of coaches, scouts and statisticians, the ambulance waiting in blinking-eyed readiness.

Not since we went to the Roxy on a vacation trip years ago had we seen so many lithesome dancing girls eager to sacrifice themselves in any way necessary to stop the infidels short of their foul purposes. It appeared to us if we could apply comparable zeal to the crusade against dastardly Communism the issue would be settled.

After the incantations had been sent winging heavenward, the musicians had blown their hearts out and the dancing girls had sunk down to earth exhausted like dying swans, the warriors took over.

It's something like a bullfight. After everybody else has had his moment of glory, including the bull, who gallops out in the happy illusion he is being let out to pasture, the moment of truth arrives.

The bull and the bullfighter face off and go for broke. The horrendous moment of truth arrives. Bodies hurtle into bodies. Bones creak and crack. Blood flows.

The vestal virgins prostrate themselves in maidenly appeal for divine intervention. Electronic equipment crackles and rumbles. All the talent of technicalized civilization is brought to bear on a single purpose — victory at any cost.

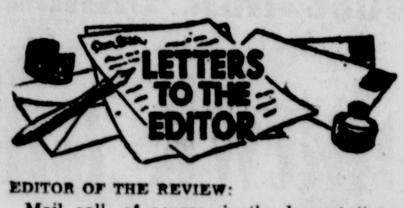
Then there is a breather while massed hordes croon paeans of passionate love for alma mater, long may she live. Everybody elbows his way to the sacrificial altars for remnants of weenies and other religious tokens.

The second half found us two aging votaries getting rump-weary. Our condition was aggravated by certainty that our gladiators were going to leave the field with their honor intact. The invaders were victims of their own malice. They were ragged and inept.

We are glad we can hold our heads high until the next home game. Our gladiators, they roared to us over the mighty bull-horn, will be invaders for the next few years and will be fought off to the last breath of sacred honor by defenders of neighboring enclaves.

This is a neat arrangement — that heroes are only heroes at home but vandals when they go abroad. This is the territorial imperative you keep talking about — the thing that makes it possible for the defenders of Vietnam to beat off the United States, though we plainly have the better team. They are fighting for their own ground.

Well, be that as it may, we went home, ate pumpkin pie, drank scalding coffee and felt that virtue had emerged triumphant. I guess that is the idea. Isn't that what the pigskin pageant is all about? Honor. Stuff like that.



EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Mail call, of course, is the largest "morale booster" for the soldiers. I know this, for I am a mail clerk and whenever the mail is passed out, these troopers are really happy.

One of the events that makes our lives cheer up is the correspondence we receive from the Oakland Free Methodist Church. We receive recording tapes as well as letters and boxes of "goodies" from this church in East Liverpool.

We believe it is very good of these peple to take time to do this deed for us servicemen overseas. Also, our opinion is that if this could be done by more churches everywhere, many more defenders of the nation could find Mail Call better than ever.

I am from Sterling, Ill., and came to Baumholder in May 1966.

Corresponding with the Oakland Free Methodist Church has led to rewarding new friendships. This church is "really on the ball." They have 25 servicemen they write to.

Mr. Harvey Kirchner, who is serviceman director, is doing a very good job.

VICTOR RIESEL

Union Status For Baseball

NEW YORK: — One of these baseball championship seasons the strikes called will be outside — not inside — the stadiums of the land. World Series ducat holders, arriving for a long, hot dog laden afternoon, will face pickets, not pitchers.

Victor Riesel

In the mood of the times, the major league athletes — like doctors, scientists, space technicians, Hollywood writers and TV profiles — have built themselves an organization which is a labor union in everything but name.

It's the way of all flesh now. The ball players are taking their grievances to the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB). They're fighting for a guaranteed annual minimum wage — $12,000 yearly against the current seven grand and the owners' offer of an eventual $8,500. They're arguing for updated grievance machinery, an impartial industry arbitrator, increased "Murphy Money" to match the cost of living, and a firm voice in scheduling. They're even talking about the supply of clothes and uniforms.

Leaders of the Major League Baseball Players Assn., under their comparatively new Executive Director, Marvin Miller, fresh out of the United Steelworkers union inner sanctum, are sounding so much like a union now, the owners have taken on a bright labor infighter themselves. He's John Gaherin, former president of the Publishers Association of New York City, who was in charge of headaches — generally known as negotiating with the big city's newspaper unions. So, now on the mounds are Marv Miller of Pittsburgh and Jack Gatherin of the owners' player relations committee.

GATHERIN WON'T FIND Miller any less adept at pitching curves in this field. This has become razor sharp since the restricted distribution of a seven-page Statement of Policy by the Players Assn. "to be used as a guide in the forthcoming negotiations with the Major League Clubs."

Buried in the virtually unreported statement is the signal for the Executive Board's big pitch. For it says that, against the increase in ticket prices, the higher take in TV royalties, and the ever-rocketing game attendance, "it is difficult to be modest in making proposals."

After a considerable listing of immediate demands during this current negotiations season, the players say that they "look for an appropriate resolution of this problem in the immediate future."

Translate this into a set of demands in "rubber, steel, auto," and you have a discussion of speed of production of the product, in this case the ball game.

The players want in on what affects their daily living, their appearances, their travel, even on the length of the fall season. And they want to see that schedule a week before the World Series games so they can bargain on the upcoming season.

THEY DON'T, for example, want day doubleheaders following a night game. Split doubleheaders should not be scheduled or rescheduled. "Twi-night" doubleheaders should not be scheduled or rescheduled just before a day game. Night games should not be scheduled or rescheduled on getaway dates if either club has a day game on the morrow in another city.

They want all games starting later than four o'clock to be considered night games. Low temperatures and high winds should be given more recognition in determining whether a game should be postponed and "minimum standards" should be adopted. There should be a day off for clubs traveling between cities in the Eastern Zone and those in the Western Zone. There should positively be no one-day stands. And no games should be played during the "three-day All Star Game Break."

They want the preliminary schedule for following seasons shown to the players' representatives about this time of the year.

They want a joint study committee established consisting of representatives of the Association and the Clubs "to review and discuss the merits and disadvantages of shortening the playing season."

This is the trail of the steel industry's Human Relations Committee developed by Marvin Miller and an erstwhile lawyer, Arthur Goldberg. Undoubtedly the ball players will live better during preseason training and the long haul to the World Series. Slowly the club owners will begin sitting with those many industrial executives who go to all those management seminars.

Yes, Virginia, there was a Babe Ruth.

Odd Facts

Providence, the settlement from which the state of Rhode Island grew, had the world's first government in which all men had an equal voice in state affairs. Rhode Island was the first of the 13 colonies to declare its independence from Great Britain, but it was the last to sign the U. S. Constitution, because it insisted on amendments that protected the rights of smaller states.

Of all the history's countless wars, the longest was "The Hundred Years War" between England and France. It lasted from 1338 to 1453, or 115 years.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Gag Rules

Members of the Senate are beginning to realize some of the speeches made demanding peace in Vietnam are being misconstrued in Southeast Asia as a sign of weakness.

With the approaching presidential contest, the impression has been created that the American people in the midst of a war will vote against their President and in favor of an opposition candidate who presumably favors surrender.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, assistant Republican leader, who recently visited Vietnam, has just made speech deploring wide spread misrepresentation of America's policy in Southeast Asia:

"Domestic American politics does not offer a satisfactory basis for a winning strategy in world affairs. North Vietnam, unable to win a military victory, seeks a political one. She counts on our moral paralysis in the face of mounting pressure for peace of almost any kind in connection with next year's elections.

"I SPEAK both as an American and as a Republican. What this administration does to demonstrate to the Vietnamee, both North and South, that America's commitment is enduring, will have, I sincerely believe, the support of the American people, and surely, of this United States senator. It is far too late in the day to throw away what free people have fought valiantly to achieve in Southeast Asia.

"America must not sully her commitment to the security of free Asia by groping for a nameless settlement. We seek an end that will leave the people of South Vietnam in lasting freedom and independence."

Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, Republican leader, also has spoken out in criticism of senators advocating virtual retreat in Vietnam. He favors a "firm policy"

Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Democrat, who has just returned from a trip to Vietnam and other countries in Asia, warned in a Senate speech Tuesday that cessation of U.S. air raids against North Vietnam would "guarantee additional casualties in South Vietnam."

He urged, instead, that the United States announce a cessation of all military action in Vietnam as of a certain date and, at the same time, declare that if, after military action were suspended, the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong nevertheless continued hostilities, then "the United States would feel free to pursue this war in any manner of its own choosing."

This would amount to making a truce calling for a halt of military operations or reinforcements by either side after a specific date.

IT WOULD demonstrate to the world the good faith of the United States. If the North Vietnamese did not adhere to the truce immediately, it would make inevitble the use of maximum military power thereafter by the United States and its allies to bring the war to an end.

The position of both political parties is slowly being clarified.

The Republican party is by no means in favor of a surrender in Vietnam, and neither is the Democratic party.

Some Senators believe they are reflecting sentiment back home in making speeches demanding "peace negotiations." But they do not take into account that, unless there is a reciprocal action—as President Johnson has outlined —the enemy will construe the whole thing as the beginning of a process of appeasement and surrender.

So the movement on the part of Sen. Dirksen and Kuchel — Republican leaders in the Senate — and Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Democratic leader, to deal with the Vietnam problem without political partisanship is a constructive development.

It could discourage the North Vietnamese from seeking to prolong the war until the 1968 election. The sooner they realize there is a sincere attempt to negotiate peace, the better it will be for all the people of Vietnam — in the North as well as the South — and for the people of Southeast Asia, as well as the United States.

Man's 'Poor' From Burns In Explosion

A Rochester man is in "poor" condition today with severe burns suffered when the home of his brother and sister-in-law was damaged heavily by a gas explosion Thursday at 11:10 p.m.

Ronald Gaus, 28, was admitted to Rochester General Hospital following the explosion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gaus. Authorities estimated $20,000 damage to the four-apartment home.

Ronald Gaus was lying on the couch in the living room, watching television, when the explosion occurred. All the windows and doors in the house were blown out.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaus were not at home. The other apartments were occupied, but no one was injured.

The front door, which leads to the upstairs apartments, was blown off the edge of the porch.

Neighbors entered the house and found Gaus standing, badly burned by the flash of fire. Some curtains were burning, but the flames were extinguished before firemen arrived.

Fire Chief Kenneth Haney said a three-eighth-inch gas line was found open about five feet from where Gaus was lying.

Golfer Frank Beard set a PGA season record by playing the Hartford and Westchester, N. Y., tournaments without getting a bogey on 84 straight holes. He was 70 or under in Hartford's four rounds yet only tied for seventh.

HAIR TRANSPLANTION
Q. Is the new method of treating baldness by hair transplantation successful?
A. Apparently so. The method, employed in an estimated 10,000 patients over the past 10 years, is based on the fact that hair follicles can be removed from one area of the scalp and placed in another without inhibiting growth of the hair. The frequency and duration of visits to the doctor for transplantation are determined largely by the extent of hair loss and the amount of restoration desired by the patient.
Note from C.D.: I hope you continue to warn people against treating themselves. More than a year ago I developed a small sore on the bridge of my nose. I used various home remedies which seemed to help for awhile. Finally, when the sore became enlarged, I consulted a physician. The diagnosis couldn't have been worse — it was cancer!
Dear C. D.: Do-it-yourself treatment can be, and often is, disasterous. Thanks for your letter, which we hope all Medical Mirror readers will heed.
Answers appearing in these columns are of necessity brief and general and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all physicians. Remember—the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

Hancock Society Meets

Life Of Johnny Appleseed Discussed At Meeting

The life of Johnny Appleseed was discussed by a descendant, Frank Chapman of Wellsburg, during a meeting of the Hancock County Historical Society at New Cumberland Thursday.

Chapman spoke to 50 in the Hancock courthouse.

Chapman, an insurance agent, said his great - great - great-grandfather, Nathanial Chapman, was a half-brother of Johnny (Chapman) Appleseed. They were among 10 children who lived at the family homestead along Route 21 near Dexter City, Ohio, about 25 miles northwest of Marietta.

Johnny Appleseed was described as 5-feet-7, with brown hair and light complexion.

Chapman said he often wore ragged trousers and walked in his bare feet, carrying a Bible.

His habit was to plant not just one tree, but an entire nursery, Chapman related.

Chapman said Johnny also was familiar with the common medicine of the time and, with the help of a Dr. True, fought an epidemic.

Chapman said Johnny often was referred to as the family's "only crazy relative," but he prefers to think of him merely as eccentric.

Johnny Appleseed was born in 1774 and died in 1845.

Chapman said most of Johnny's tree planting took place along the Muskingum, Licking, Tuscarawas and Walholding Rivers. But, some of his largest nurseries were in the vicinity of Ft. Wayne, Ind. When he died, he owned property in Adams, Allen and Jay counties in Indiana.

Chapman said some people believe Johnny was graduated from Harvard University, but since he is not registered there, he suspects that is only a part of the legend surrounding his life.

Johnny was reported to be a friend to every Indian and aided them in planting apple trees.

Council OK's New Play Site For Ohioville

The decision was made to develop a recreation area on Forestdale Dr., near the old pumphouse, when Ohioville Council met Thursday night.

The legislators authorized Daniel Baker Jr., borough engineer, to draw up plans and estimates for grading and laying drains on the property immediately.

Another land parcel on Bear Ln. Dr. will not be developed at the present time, however, Council advised, because of the larger amount of expense involved.

Mayor Elmer R. Gifford, chairman of the recreation committee, said several meetings were held before the decision was reached.

George Daniels Jr., road committee chairman, said two battery - operated emergency light units have been purchased for the Fire Department and two no parking signs are being erected at the front of the fire hall so trucks will not be blocked.

Mayor Gifford reported 464 signatures have been obtained on a petition for a new post office in Ohioville, but many more are needed from tne 3,050 population.

The September police report included 26 complaints and 8 arrests for auto violations.

Baker reported on the salt stabilization road improvement program, which is nearing completion at a cost of $13,000.

Richard Rice, finance chairman, gave a tentative report on the 1968 budget, which will be acted on at the next meeting and given final approval at the Nov. 20 session.

Last year's budget totaled $53,000. Bills totaling $3,490 were paid. F. Paul Dawson, president, presided. The next regular meeting will be Nov. 2 at 8 p.m.

New Date Set In Theft Case

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today ordered a continuance until Monday at 9 a.m. in a scheduled hearing for Rodney Eugene Gilkinson of Cannons Mills, accused of stealing a pay telephone and damaging other property early Sunday morning in the Patterson-Wetzel Laundromat on St. Clair Ave. near Grant St.

A hearing previously had been scheduled Monday for the second defendant in the same case —David Cunningham, 19, of 2nd St.

Both are named in affidavits signed by Lt. Paul A. Burson Jr. and Patrolman Leonard Richard. They are accused of stealing an Ohio Bell Telephone Co. instrument valued at $144.85 and malicious destruction of property worth $125.68 inside the building, including a pane of glass, woodwork and a clock.

The two officers filed charges against Gilkinson on Tuesday and Cunningham on Wednesday. Appearance bonds were set at $1,000 in each case. Gilkinson is represented by G. William Brokaw.

Richard said he interrupted a theft at the laundromat at 3:43 a. m. Sunday. As his cruiser approached, two men fled from the building, abandoning the telephone on the sidewalk, and then disappeared over a wooded hillside at the rear, he reported.

Bridge

in awarding of the contract. Kimball said he hopes the work can be done within six weeks. He noted, however, that as with repair of all older structures unforeseen factors can influence completion.

Bridge engineers were on the site Thursday interviewing the contractors as they arrived to make their inspections.

The Ft. Steuben span, that was closed to traffic last week due to failure of portions of the concrete deck while the resurfacing contractor was removing the existing pavement, was built in the period 1926 to 1928 by the Dravo Corp. of Pittsburgh. It was constructed as a private toll bridge for the Ft. Steuben Bridge Co.

In 1947, the suspension structure that spans the Ohio River between Steubenville and Weirton was taken over by the Ohio Highway Department. In 1952 the Ohio Bridge Commission assumed ownership of the bridge and tolls were imposed to pay for major relocation work of the Ohio approaches. Again in 1960 the Ohio Highway Department received ownership of the structure.

Meanwhile, Jack Adams, secretary of SWATS for the Weirton-Steubenville area, said he has not received official word from the Pennsylvania Railroad concerning the possibility of using a train shuttle service between Steubenville and Weirton while the bridge is closed for repairs.

Transporting the thousands of workers across the river was proposed the first of this week by both SWATS and the emergency committee handling the traffic snarl.

Police Chief Robert Cornelius at Steubenville said the area will face a major traffic jam the evening of the annual Weirton - Steubenville football game and suggested some kind of shuttle service. He said trains might serve this purpose.

Robert Leech of the Steubenville Bus Co. said his firm is prepared to have 30 buses to be used to shuttle spectators for the game. He said another 30 would be on the West Virginia side.

Capt. Meriwether Lewis was the actual leader of the Lewis and Clark Expedition. Lewis was selected by President Jefferson and he, in turn, chose Clark as his associate.

Trucks

believes to be an overall improvement in the strike situation.

He said Thursday night was relatively "uneventful" in Ohio, that new tactics of the Highway Patrol in deployment of forces has helped ease the situation, and that the steel haulers themselves are adopting some new tactics whereby some independent non - strikers merely pull their trucks off the road and report in to their offices and thus become eligible for time and a half overtime.

McElroy said he understood that the strikers are no longer aiming at any truck traffic except the non-striking steel haulers, and that incidents of violence are dropping off.

IN PENNSYLVANIA, Gov. Shafer ordered State Police Commissioner Frank McKetta to take a personal hand in directing reinforced patrols in western Pennsylvania, a hotbed of violence.

But the steel industry, which ships more than 50 per cent of its products by truck, was still feeling the economic pinch and other industries — from highway builders to grocery stores —were beginning to feel the affects as the strike closed off supply and delivery lines.

The Ohio Contractors Association said $154 million in highway projects were stopped and another $81 million were jeopardized. The western Pennsylvania Heavy and Highways Contractors Association said millions of dollars of construction projects were snarled and 4,000 tradesmen idled because concrete shipments were halted.

In Pittsburgh, sheriff's deputies rode shotgun to get bread delivered to a supermarket chain north of the city. Restaurants and hospitals at Cleveland say they're having trouble getting frozen foods and fresh meat.

The wildcat strike by 10,000 to 20,000 independent truckers cut back steel production by 30 per cent last month, according to Iron Age magazine.

Trial Slated In Arson Case

LISBON — Harry L. Knight, 32, of Minerva will have to stand trial in Columbiana County Common Pleas Court on a charge of arson — an indictment returned by the April grand jury.

After the indictment, Knight pleaded not guilty and was released under $2,000 bond. On May 3, he pleaded guilty to a charge of malicious burning of his mobile home near Summitville last Dec. 31 and asked for probation.

At the probation hearing Thursday, Knight told Judge Raymond S. Buzzard he had not started the fire, so the court entered a plea of not guilty for him and ordered the case set for trial.

James D. Primm Jr., assistant prosecuting attorney, said the state will proceed with the arson indictment rather than the malicious burning charge. Both charges cover the burning of the home, but the latter charge was in the form of prosecutor's information. The prosecutor's office intended to drop the arson indictment after disposition of the lesser charge.

Martha Hanley, 29, of Salineville, who pleaded guilty to forgery charges last May, was placed on probation for five years. Judge Buzzard ordered her to make restitution at $5 per week. She owes three defrauded stores $146.

Roosevelt Cerney, 39, of Cleveland appeared before Judge Joel H. Sharp Wednesday to plead not guilty to a grand larceny indictment. He is accused of taking approximately $600 from an open cash register in a checkout lane at Mason's IGA Foodliner in Wellsville last July 8. He dropped the money when the manager shouted and advanced with a pistol.

Defendants who have pleaded not guilty to indictments made by the September grand jury will go on trial before Judge Sharp, beginning Oct. 16.

Defy Court Injunction

Nonteaching Ohio State Workers Continue Strike

By DON BANDY
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hundreds of defiant nonteaching employes at Ohio State University voted Thursday night to continue an illegal strike with hopes of upsetting normal operations on the huge campus and force the university to meet their demands.

The employes chose to defy a court injunction ordering them back to work. They also were warned in registered letters sent by the university they will be fired if they remain on strike.

But picket lines were reestablished Thursday night following a meeting of Local 138, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes.

The university said it would have no comment on its next step until after officials meet this morning with attorneys. Ohio State has granted an injunction Thursday by Common Pleas Judge Myron B. Gessaman ordering the strikers to return.

"We're ready to stay out as long as necessary," said Michael Fuscardo, local president. "We're prepared to take our stand and stay with it and even go to jail if necessary."

The university said the strike —in its second day—is illegal under Ohio's Ferguson Act banning strikes by public employes. University officials said, however, they have already made plans to continue functioning as usual for the more than 37,000 students on the campus near downtown Columbus.

Some students living in dormitories have been "assigned" extra chores because custodial employes are among the strikers. They have been given duties to sweep the floors and others to empty wastebaskets.

The union suid 3,000 employes joined the strike Thursday, but the university placed the figure at around 1,000. The union said 1,600 of the school's 6,090 nonacademic employes are union members.

Five of the eight dormitory cafeterias were closed Thursday. Frederick Stecker, director of public relations for Ohio State, said this was preplanned.

The only other immediate effect the strike has had so far, one school official said, was "some reductions in outside deliveries to the campus.

The striking workers have asked for support from the students, urging them not to attend classes and join the picket lines. "We're fighting for self-survival," said Fuscardo.

The employes are demanding a 10 per cent pay raise, binding arbitration of disputes, paid hospitalization, free parking and free meals for food service workers.

The university said it would cost $5.5 million to meet the union package and student fees would have to be raised $80 a year. This is on top of a $15-per-quarter fee increase already requested by the university to meet other needs.

Talks In Pittsburgh Hotel Strike Launched

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Talks are reported underway again to resolve the walkout of over 600 employes at Pittsburgh's Penn-Sheraton Hotel. Labor and management are both quiet about the meetings.

The hotel has been virtually closed, except for permanent residents, since the strike began Sunday.

The unions--representing hotel and restaurant employes and bartenders--want a "no sale" clause in the contract. The Penn—Sheraton management is balking at this clause.

Ratings Hit TV News Programs

Hal Humphrey

ABC apparently is looking for someone to replace anchorman Peter Jennings, who in his nearly three years with the network hasn't been able to make an appreciable dent against CBS' Walter Cronkite or NBC's Chet Huntley and David Brinkley.

NBC itself must have been experiencing some jitters.

For the first time in nearly 11 years it has broken up the Huntley-Brinkley format by bringing newsmen Sandy Vanocur, John Chancellor and Jack Perkins into the studio to comment from behind desks with H&B. To cap it off, a recent Nielsen rating gave Cronkite one of the biggest leads he's ever enjoyed — a 14.2 to H&B's 11.6.

This must amuse Cronkite, who looked to be headed for the TV newsmen's bone heap three years ago. His rating versus H&B at the 1964 Republican convention in San Francisco was low enough that CBS management ran in the team of Bob Trout and Roger Mudd to anchore the coverage from the Democratic convention.

Fortunately for Cronkite, the team of Trout & Mudd fared no better, so he kept his anchor seat on the week-night CBS news.

IT IS ODD that ABC's Jennings hasn't fared better in this league. He is young, handsome and articulate. As a politician these qualities would endear him to millions of TV viewers, but maybe for news the viwers prefer an older and sterner type.

Also, of course, in Jennings' case his rating is hampered by ABC's not having as many outlets as CBS or NBC. Many ABC stations carry the Jennings news on a delayed broadcast basis, which means in many markets he follows Cronkite and H&B.

A Canadian, Jennings' English pronunciation of words like schedule as "shed-ul" could be alienating some viewers, especially in the Midwest where there seems to be less tolerance for such deviations.

NEITHER ABC News president Elmer Lower nor vice president William Sheehan (currently filling in for Jennings during the strike) would comment on Jennings beyond stating he will stay until the end of the year.

Jennings, incidentally, has been outspokenly critical of the "star" system in TV news programs and the confinement he feels, as a newsman, because of it.

As for Jennings' succesor, it will be interesting to see whom ABC picks. The choice undoubtedly will indicate which way the network intends to emphasize its news policy, that is, toward the news or the personality of the anchorman.

EDWARD P. MORGAN, who recently took a leave of absence to become part of educational TV's new Public Broadcast Laboratory, would have made a good choice.

Howard K. Smith, who left CBS to join ABC several years ago, is a top reporter. He was sidetracked after doing a news special titled "The Political Obituary of Richard Nixon" following Nixon's defeat in California's gubernatorial race of 1962.

The presence of Alger Hiss on the program kicked up considerable fuss, and Smith's chores at ABC since then have been restricted.

Frank Reynolds, who comes from ABC's Chicago station and subbed for Jennings while the latter was in Europe a few weeks last summer, probably has the inside track. He is a good reporter, although perhaps not as good looking and personable as Jennings.

OBVIOUSLY no changes are in the works at CBS News. Cronkite and commentator Eric Sevareid with his two- or three-minute analyses have no successors being groomed in another part of the building.

At NBC there's a definite trend to de-emphasize the Huntley-Brinkley team, but unless their ratings tumble they're still going to be the core of NBC's network news program.

Huntley has hinted he might be interested in politics, so this could be another reason for NBC's opening up the H&B Report to include other faces.

There are those observers, too, who claim Huntley hurt his rating with many trade union members when he failed to go on strike with his union of actors and newsmen last spring.

Cleveland Apartment Fire Claims Man, 43

CLEVELAND (AP) — Saul Gregory, 43, of Cleveland, died Thursday night in a fire that started in his third-floor apartment, firemen said. Five other persons fled the building. No injuries were reported.

Firemen said Gregory apparently was asleep in a chair when the fire broke out.

Damage was estimated at $500. Cause was not determined.

COPE Endorses Stokes In Mayor Race On Nov. 7

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Committee on Political Education (COPE) of the Cleveland AFL-CIO has endorsed Democrat Carl B. Stokes for the mayor of Cleveland in the Nov. 7 election.

The name of Seth C. Taft, the Republican nominee, was not mentioned.

Taft said he would take his program to the union membership. He said he had walked the St. Luke's Hospital picket lines and charged that the committee had endorsed Stokes before hearing anything about his programs or the issue.

James E. O'Meara, COPE chairman, said Stokes told the committee that he will put the issue of selling the Cleveland municipal light plant to the voters in a referendum.

O'Meara also said Stokes promised labor its "fair share of committee appointments" at city hall.

Average Weekly W. Va. Earnings Led U.S. By $2

Average hourly earnings have risen from $2.25 to $2.82 during this period, with a corresponding hike in weekly pay from $86.40 to $114.21.

Non-farm employment in the state rose 10 per cent in the past five years. Mining jobs declined, but jobs in government, manufacturing and construction increased, resulting in an overall increase in employment from 470,000 jobs in 1958 to 492,300 in 1966.

Group Backs Recreation Plan At Park

The Oak Glen Boosters Club has pledged its support for a proposed state project for the construction and maintenance of softball and baseball fields at Tomlinson Run State Park. The members instructed Secretary Carl Covert to notify the Hancock County commissioners of the action.

In other business, Paul Clunk reported there currently remains $243.25 outstanding for football program advertisements.

Robert Aken was appointed chairman of the "Supper Date" program to be held Oct. 14. All reservations must be made by the next meeting.

Plans have been completed to host the Oak Glen and Philip Barbour football teams at a social after the Oct. 13 game. The affair will be catered. The Philip Barbour squad, from Philippi, will be guests of the Oak Glen players overnight, returning home Saturday.

A general discussion was held on the annual stag smoker for the coaching staffs of all Oak Glen football opponents. Further plans will be made after a tentative date is approved by Coach Robert Starkey.

An appeal has been issued for more active club members, with mothers and fathers of athletes invited to the meeting next Wednesday.

A report was made by President Francis Stephens that Wheeling Central has requested 1,000 student tickets and 500 adult reserved tickets for tonight's game, along with parking space for at least 13 buses. The boosters will provide free bus parking on their lot.

Coffee and doughnuts were served by Ray Sayre and Robert Aken.

50-Cent Piece, Unlike $2 Bill, Is Here To Stay

The Treasury Department plans to mint halves containing 40 per cent silver through next year. Officials are confident the coins will continue to circulate.

Even if the department ultimately decides to remove all silver from half dollars, it still plans to continue making them.

Despite record production of halves, the Treasury has been unable to satisfy the demand for them. It has declared the shortage of other coins at an end.

The department stopped making $2 bills last year because of lack of demand.

Robert A .Wallace, assistant secretary of the Treasury, said half dollars are apparently still being hoarded, although more and more of them are now circulating.

Woman Fined In Raid

WEIRTON — Justice of the Peace Thomas Bellanco Thursday fined Angela DiBenedetto, owner and operator of the R. and A. Lounge, Pennsylvania Ave., a total of $75 on charges of possession and sale of liquor without a license. West Virginia state police raided the tavern Sunday night.

Outlaw Racial Bias, Britain's Labor Unit Asks

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP) — British Laborites called on the government today to outlaw racial discrimination, which they said is spreading throughout the country.

Debate during the windup session of the ruling party's annual convention ended with unanimous passage of a resolution expressing concern at the extent of discrimination in employment, housing, insurance and other services. It also urged new laws to promote "equal opportunity without regard to race, color or ethnic or national origins."

Party leaders, after noting that certain new antidiscrimination laws are being prepared for parliamentary action, accepted the resolution.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson eft the convention unchallenged master of his party with more time to advance toward the frontiers of the great society he has promised to establish in Britain.

Anti-Viet War Resolution Gets Court Rejection

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court in a special decision issued Friday turned down a mandamus action brought by a Cleveland group seeking to place an anti-Vietnam war resolution on the November ballot in that city.

The high court's action paralleled a decision given Wednesday in a similar case. A mandamus action also had been filed with the court asking a similar resolution be placed on ballots in Lake County.

The Cleveland action had been brought by Franklin Anderson of Cleveland on behalf of a group seeking the vote. They had first petitioned City Council but petitions were turned down by the City Council clerk.

As in the Lake County case, the court held the state constitution restricts municipal initiative powers to "all questions which such municipalities may now and hereafter be authorized to control by legislative action." And as in the previous case, the court ruled that the city is limited to what is authorized by law in legislative action.

National associations of fur farmers in the four Nordic countries have approved plans for a 30 per cent cutback in Nordic mink production.

More Vehicles Titled By County

LISBON — Columbiana County titled 412 new vehicles worth $1,289,958 in September, according to Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey.

The number compares with 407 in September last year, but is the lowest since February this year.

Stacey said the title department also issued 3,202 auto titiels, 49 duplicate titles, 662 memorandums, one duplicate memorandum, 1,206 notations of liens, 1,126 cancellations of liens and 1,151 acknowledgments.

The state treasurer received 11,294 from sales and use tax, $77,204 from the dealer's tax, $1,162 from car title fees and 786 from inspection certificates.

Stacey said the county treasurer was paid $7,585 in fees collected in Common Pleas Court and the Car Title Department.

Seventy-six civil cases were filed last month in Common Pleas Court, compared with 80 in September last year.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR MOTHER: Look at my blue jeans! It's all the fad now. . . .

YOUR DAUGHTER.

DEAR FOLKS: I found this note on my typewriter. Along with her blue jeans . . .

They were fringed on the bottom, and so adorable I decided to fringe mine, too.

Here's the easiest way I found to do it:

Take a razor blade and remove the hem. Wet a rag and iron the hem out straight. This is MOST important.

If you have any starch handy, give that a hit and miss, too. Then iron the hem straight. Remember that hem has probably been there a long time and you want the fringe to hang STRAIGHT.

I literally cut the double side seams out and then started pulling the threads loose as if you were making a one-inch fringe on a napkin. Then put those jeans on. Darling!

Also, when the jeans wear in the knees, cut them off and make fringed shorts out of them.

And what price teenagers? Perhaps they keep us young. (Or do they make us old? I can't figure that one out.)

This idea is especially wonderful for those jeans we mothers wear which are too short as it lets them down an inch or so. . . .

And if our daughters and sons are going to start a fad, why shouldn't we join the group? Nothing lost and it's free, too. . . .

ANOTHER MOTHER.

DEAR HELOISE: Children love to display their school papers and art work.

Get some small decorative magnets and put their work on the door of your refrigerator and freezer.

As they bring home new papers, they don't mind if the old are thrown away and new ones put up.

This makes a nice big bulletin board for the whole family to view.

MRS. BRUCE PRESLEY.

DEAR HELOISE: The other day I found a solution for my skirt linings.

I lined my skirt with an old half slip.

I just took out the elastic and opened the left side seam for the zipper and sewed it to the waist band of my new skirt.

Worked great and I like it much better than regular lining.

CAROL.

DEAR HELOISE: I have found that canned soups make good quick sauces.

Also good with cheese for macaroni. Try it!

MRS. C. W. HOLMES.

DEAR HELOISE: When my electricity went off about two o'clock one morning recently, it was cold outside and I was freezing with no electric blanket.

I had done as you said and kept my candle in the refrigerator. But I also had one carrot wrapped in wax paper — so you can guess what I was trying to light — the carrot!

MAHALA.

DEAR HELOISE: You know the children's car coats with attached hoods in which the drawstring in the hood is always coming out? I solved this for my children.

I pulled the string back through with a large safety pin. Then sewed a button at each end of the string a little larger than the holes. Now the string stays put and the buttons even add a bit of decoration.

New Trial Set In Bribery Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—The retrial of former Cleveland city councilman Michael Fatica has been set for Oct. 23. Fatica was convicted of bribery in 1964 after a 33-day trial before Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge John M. Manos.

An appellate court ordered a new trial on the basis that county prosecutor John T. Corrigan and Judge Manos commented before the jury that Fatica did not testify on his own behalf. Retrial date was set Thursday.

In 1965, the U. S. Supreme Court handed down a decision that no comment may be made on the failure of a defendant to take the witness stand.

Fatica was convicted of soliciting a $5,000 bribe from a restauranteur to help in the transfer of a liquor license. He was sentenced to one to five years in prison, but remains free on $1,000 appeal bond.

Security Lists Are Checked For Missing Notes

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City banks and financial institutions checked their securities lists today—looking for $1.7 million in missing U. S. Treasury notes that apparently were misplaced during a Wall Street bank transfer.

Police did not rule out the possibility of theft but were working on the assumption that the "easily negotiable" securities went astray in a mixup between one bank's messenger and another bank's clerk.

One of the notes is for $1 million and the others for $100,000 each. They are payable to the bearer and thus readily negotiable but one bank spokesman said that in practice it would be difficult for anyone to cash them.

The disappearance reported Thursday marked the third major loss of securities from a Wall Street institution within a month.

On Sept. 14 the investment firm of Hayden, Stone, Inc. listed the loss of $1.5 million in securities and a week ago police arrested a former bank clerk in the Sept. 8 theft of $1 million in IBM stock certificates from the Wall Street branch of the Toronto Dominion Bank.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Why Put Up With Double Chin?

What leads to a double chin and a creepy throatline? Improper head carriage is the basic cause. When you allow your head to droop forward like a sunflower, folds of soft flesh form under the chin. Double chins are not necessarily a subdivision of excess weight.

Ida Jean Kain

Of course excess calories can snuggle under the chin for fat gravitates to flabby spots. The secret of a well-defined, beautiful throatline is in good muscle tone, not in fat padding or the lack of it.

Beauticians in dealing with a "slipping contour" pat on tingling astringents and bolster milady's chin with a supporting strap, icy cold. Such measures feel ever so bracing, but they are about as much permanent help as applying a band aid.

WITH ERECT head posture and a little daily exercise, the muscles of the throat stay bracingly on the job. Between the lower jaw and the collar bones is a thin sheet of muscle, the platysma, which contracts the skin on the front of the throat. With poor head posture this muscle becomes flabby, and often fat imbedded. With erect head posture, the head is properly balanced and all the muscles of the neck gain in tone.

Elegant head carriage is only possible with good general posture. When your body is in proper alignment from the base of the spine to the top of your head, the chin is held level and a double chin hasn't a chance.

Forget the old posture rules such as "shoulders back, chest out." That is over-correction. Keep in mind only one rule—up. Start the uplift with the lower abdominal muscles and contract with hip muscles. These two sets of muscles, working together, center the pelvis. Square your shoulders, but keep them down and relaxed. Hold your head up, chin level.

Position: Lie on back on floor, knees flexed, soles of feet flat on floor. Have arms out at shoulder level, elbows bent, forearms back on floor. This arm position squares the shoulders. Action: Pull up and in strongly with the lower abdominal muscles, pressing small of back flat against floor. Hold the muscle contraction for a slow count of six. Breathe normally. Repeat the exercise five times, twice daily.

The proper way to carry your head is squarely on your shoulders, with that line at the back of the neck almost straight, and the chin held level. That is elegant head carriage. Your style is the way you carry your head.

Send a stamped, self - addressed envelope for "Get A Lift With Posture." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review.

Hearing Planned In Zone Change

The City Planning Commission is scheduled to conduct a public hearing tonight at 7:30 at City Hall on applications to change the zoning of a tract of property in East End.

The request affects four lots on Pennsylvania Ave. and Virginia Ave. Now zoned for "medium high density residential use," the new classification sought by the owners would allow business use for the property.

The applications were filed by the First Federal Savings & Loan Association, covering property at 1044, 1046 and 1048 Pennsylvania Ave. and Henry and Sarah Ward for their property at 537 Virginia Ave. Both applications state that if the change in classification is granted the property would be used for a service station by the Bonded Oil Co. of Springfield.

The commission received the applications at its meeting Aug. 28, when the hearing date was set. It was required to give at least 30 days' public notice prior to the hearing.

Cranberry was originally crane-berry. The fruit is borne on curved stalks which suggest the neck of a crane.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Compromisers

Dear Ann: I was raised on a farm where the day began early. My wife was a city girl. She believed anything that happened before 8 a.m. wasn't worth getting up for.

When we were first married my wife made a half-hearted attempt to pull herself out of bed in the morning to fix breakfast like a martyr and let me know she was plenty unhappy about the sacrifices she was making to please me.

We ended up arguing almost every morning and both of us were miserable. Finally I told her to do me a favor and stay in bed and I'd get my own breakfast.

This has worked for 61 years, Ann, and I recommend it for all young couples who have this problem. Why spoil the day with an early morning argument when there's plenty of time to fight after supper? — A.D.M. ROCH., N.Y.

Dear A.DM: Anything that works for 61 years has got to be good! My congratulations to you both. Youn sound like people I'd love to know.

Family Fun

Dear Ann: Recently my husband and I received a engraved invitation to attend a wedding and reception. The invitation was addressed to "Mr. and Mrs." No mention was made of our three children (ages 9, 11 and 13; so we assumed they were not included.

When we arrived at the church, we were amazed to see dozens of children of all ages. My husband said to me, "We should have brought the kids." I told him they were not invited. He replied, "Well, I'd like to find out why all these kids were invited and ours weren't."

He went around at the reception and asked several parents if their children's names appeared on the invitation. They all said, "No. But we were sure they'd be welcome."

Now my husband is mad at me. He says our own kids were gypped out of a good time because of my high-falutin' ideas. Was I right or wrong?—FAMILY FIGHT.

Dear Family: The parents who brought their kids along because they were sure they'd be welcome were wrong—not you.

Good manners dicatate that the kids stay home unless they are specifically included. And this means either by name or the words "and Family" written on the invitation.

Confidentially

To All My Eggs in One Basket: I have had enough of your 12-page letters. Why don't you take one of those eggs out of that basket, put it in your shoe and beat it? This column does not go in for Friend-Finding, so give up already.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Negro Fourth In Mayor Bid At Memphis

By BILL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A. W. Willis, Tennessee's first Negro state legislator in more than half a century, couldn't put together a winning coalition Thursday and failed in a bid to become the first Negro mayor of a major Old South city.

Two men with experience in the job—incumbent Mayor William Ingram and former Mayor Henry Loeb—made it into the Nov. 2 runoff as Willis trailed fourth in his race against six white candidates.

The final vote in the fairly heavy balloting — attributed to Willis' presence in the race—gave Loeb 47,784 votes to 36,074 for Ingram and 30,979 for Shelby County Sheriff William Morris. Willis had 15,575.

Willis, twice elected to the state House of Representatives, had been conceded the majority of the Negro vote when the campaign started.

But the final tally showed he failed to hold the Negro vote and was unable to make serious inroads into the traditionally white voting structure.

In a statement conceding defeat, Willis said he was disappointed at the result but added that it could be expected because of "100 years of brainwashing."

Willis said however, he thought the race had raised questions "which will have to be answered later."

Ingram was the main beneficiary of the Negro vote which swung away from Willis, an attorney, civil rights leader and cofounder and president of a savings and loan association.

Loeb, who had resigned as mayor in the closing days of his term, led from the start in ballot counting Thursday night. He had been a member of the City Park Commission and the City Commission before he was elected mayor in 1959.

Ingram, an attorney, served five years as a city court judge before he was elected mayor in 1963.

Military-Industrial Complex Seen Dominating Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., decrying the spending of billions of dollars on the supersonic transport plane and man-on-the-moon projects, says a "large military-industrial complex" dominates Congress.

Fulbright's comment came during a Senate battle with supporters of the proposed $4.6 billion space bill over the relatively small amount of $95.5 million.

A vote on the question was to be held today.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., backed by the potent Appropriations and Space committees, asked for this addition to the amount voted by the House.

Both the Senate and House previously slashed President Johnson's initial space budget request of $5.1 billion by $234 million in a prior authorization measure. The House cut another $282 million in the separate money bill.

Although President Johnson—pushing for congressional approval of his tax increase—announced he would accept the second cut, the Senate Appropriations panel restored the $95.5 million for future space programs.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., lost, after hours of angry debate, an effort to slash additional funding for the supersonic jet transport or SST from $143 million to $1 million.

Congress previously has supplied $511 million to build two prototypes of these huge commercial airliners, planned to carry 280 passengers at high speed and altitudes over the oceans.

Proxmire said the aviation industry—not taxpayers—should finance this costly venture, adding that only the jet set would use them if they ever are built.

Fulbright teamed with Proxmire as did Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., whose brother, President John F. Kennedy, put his country into the supersonic race with the Soviet Union's TU-144 and the Concorde, sponsored jointly by England and France.

Lebanon's Views On Middle East Awaited At U.N.

Lebanese foreign minister Georges Hakim ranges over the Middle East situation in his policy speech before the 122-nation General Assembly.

Hakim told a reporter this week that the Arab states decided at their recent summit conference at Khartoum to "choose the peaceful solution rather than one leading to war sooner or later."

"This means," Hakim said, "that if Israeli troops were withdrawn to positions occupied June 5, the Arab States would renounce the use of force and agree to the establishment of peaceful conditions in which the security and territorial integrity of all states in the region would be respected."

This was more moderate than the statements that Arab foreign ministers have been making in the assembly's policy debate.

OCTOBER

is an ideal time to fertilize your lawn

Yes, experience has taught them that late fall and early winter is a sensible and far-sighted time to improve any lawn.

Even though grass is inactive above ground, root development can go on all through the winter months, ensuring a sturdier and earlier spring green-up — and thicker turf. And if you use Turf Builder there will be no loss of feeding power, no matter how low the temperature goes. The patented Trionized bonding prevents leaching or nutritional breakdown. 5,000 sq. ft. bag 4.95.

Extra Protection

Some winters, under high moisture conditions, disease-developing fungi can cause trouble. As a safeguard you could use Turf Builder-plus-1 which includes fungicide along with the fertilizer. 5,000 sq. ft. bag 6.95.

Sports Whirled

Statistics are the lifeblood of sports, or at least sports writers.

Statistics in football and basketball are more imprecise. It takes spotters in football to tell who carried the ball and on what yard line it falls. From the vantage point of the press booth the yard line is sometimes a guess, hence the variance in statistics between people covering games. In basketball the action sometimes gets too torrid for even the most veteran scorer to determine who got how many rebounds.

BUT DESPITE any impreciseness, there are plenty of statistics available in football. Here are some.

John Schneider of Toledo is sixth in the country in total offense and Tom Sherman of Penn State is 19th. Bob Pfefferle of Toledo is 10th in rushing, teammate Roland Moss is 12th, Dick Conley of Ohio U. is 15th, Don Fitzgerald of Kent St. is 21st and Jack Foster of Western Michigan is 24th.

Sherman is 11th in passing, Schneider is 13th, Jim Boreland of Western Michigan is 16th and Jerry Buckmaster of Xavier is 23rd. Bob Campbell of Penn State leads the country in punting with a 48.9 average and Dale Livingston of Western Michigan is ninth.

Marty Barski of Western Michigan is seventh in pass receiving, Ted Kwalick of Penn State is eighth and Wil Perry of Kent State is 18th. Ken Juskowich of West Virginia is sixth in scoring and Garrett Ford of the Mounties is tied for eighth. Juskowich is second in scoring by kicking and John Mallory of WVU is third in punt returns, one place ahead of Bob Zimpfer of Bowling Green. Orin Richburg of Kent State is fourth in kickoff returns, and Lou Harris of the Golden Flashes leads in interceptions with five. Dave Hudson of Western Michigan is tied for eighth in interceptions.

TEAMWISE, Penn State is 12th in total offense and 11th in passing offense. Bowling Green is tough defensively, ranking third in total defense, seventh in rushing defense, eighth in passing defense and is tied for first in defense against scoring, with two shutouts. Toledo is 10th in total defense. No one from the state of Ohio is ranked in the small college statistics.

Among the pros, Leroy Kelly of the Browns is the leading rusher, with Bill Asbury and Jim (Cannonball) Butler of the Steelers fifth and eighth. Kelly is eighth in punting and Butler seventh in kickoff returns. Asbury is sixth in scoring. Frank Ryan of the Browns is eighth in passing and Dick Compton of the Steelers 10th in receiving.

LEETONIA WAS tied for 27th and Columbiana tied for 29th among the Class A schools in the UPI Ohio scholastic football poll. The AP poll had Leetiona tied for 35th and Columbiana tied for 40th.

DID YOU notice that Youngstown Cardinal Mooney boomed Youngstown East 76-14 last week, scoring 42 points in the second period?

BOB LONGO of Pitt and Ted Kwalick of Penn State, both ends, were named to the All-East football team this week.

THE PITTSBURGH Pipers of the new American Basketball Association lost their exhibition opener 125-99 to the Indiana Pacers. Connie Hawkins had 27, Tom Washington 20 and Charley Williams 19 for the Popers. Pittsburgh's other new pro team, the hockey Penguins, are doing better, with a 5-1-1 record in exhibition games to date.

SOPHOMORE Garland Hudson is expected to start for West Virginia tomorrow in its big clash with Pitt in place of injured Tom Digon. The Mountaineers will miss tight end Bob Zambo, sidelined for the season with a broken arm.

THE STATE of West Virginia is doing itself proud in soccer, of all sports, West Virginia U., which went to the NCAA tournament last year, is 3-0 this year, nipping highly-rated Akron 1-0 and rolling over West Virginia Wesleyan 7-1 and St. Francis (Pa.) 8-0. The Weirton entry in the Keysone League continues to win by big scores.

Javier's Double In 8th Lone Hit

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jim Lonborg woke up today and knew he was on the road for real. Carl Yastrzemski woke up and knew how good it felt to be able to sleep without taking a sleeping pill.

Collectively, the Boston Red Sox knew how it felt to be even with the St. Louis Cardinals again in the World Series.

The Red Sox pulled even at 1-Thursday by whipping the Cardinals 5-0 in Boston behind the one-hit pitching of Lonborg and the two-homer slugging of Yastrzemski.

The teams then moved to St. Louis where the Series will resume Saturday with Gary Bell, 13-13, pitching for the Red Sox and Nelson Briles, 14-5 going for the Cardinals.

Lonborg produced his masterpiece — he retired the first 19 batters he faced and didn't allow a hit until Julian Javier doubled with two out in the eighth — after foresaking his own bed again for a room at a downtown Boston hotel.

Yastrzemski, on the other hand, slept in his own bed Wednesday night, but he had to take a pill to get to sleep.

"I just wanted to make sure I got a good night's sleep," explained Lonborg, who did the same thing last Saturday night before pitching the pennant-clinching game against Minnesota.

He stayed at the hotel both times because he wanted to simulate road conditions. On the road there's no one to bother him the night before he pitches, and his record has shown the difference. At home this season he was 8-5, on the road 14-4.

Yastrzemski has his own sleeping problems.

Yastrzemski Takes Pill

"I'm a little nervous when I'm trying to go to sleep and sometimes I take a sleeping pill," explained the American League's Triple Crown winner who exploded from a hitless first game to a three-hit, four-run-batted-in second game.

"I took a pill last night, and I had nine hours of sleep," Yastrzemski said Thursday. "I won't need one tonight because we don't play tomorrow."

As nervous as he is away from the ball park — "I'm very nervous when I'm home eating breakfast" — Boston's brilliant left fielder is completely calm once he reaches the playing site.

Before the second game of the Series, Yastrzemski passed up batting practice because he had taken 20 minutes postgame bat work the day before. Instead, he climbed onto the trainer's table and took a 45-minute nap.

"When I don't take batting practice, I usually take a nap," he said. "The trainer woke me up at about a quarter to 12, and I felt great."

The Cardinals didn't feel too good a couple of hours later when Yastrzemski socked a 380-foot bases-empty homer in the fourth inning and a 430-foot blast with two on in the seventh.

First Homer Enough

"When I hit the first homer, I told Jim, 'You have enough, Big Guy. Go get 'em'."

Lonborg certainly did get them.

For the first 6 1-3 innings, the 24-year-old right-hander allowed only one swing that resembled a hit — a hard ground ball that second baseman Jerry Adair backhanded and fired off-balance to first.

Then in the seventh Lonborg's chance to equal Don Larsen's perfect game feat in the 1956 Series evaporated. Curt Flood worked the count to 3-2, fouled off two pitches and then watched as the next pitch dipped low and outside for the fourth ball.

In the next inning, Lonborg also lost his no-hitter. He retired the first two batters on grounders, but Julian Javier swung at the first pitch and lined it down the left field line for a clean double.

That was the only hit the Cardinals got, and Lonborg became the fourth hurler to pitch a one-hitter in a Series game.

"I didn't care about the walk," said Lonborg, a prime candidate for the AL's Cy Young Award. "I'm not after my perfect game — yet. The no-hitter is what I wanted.

Hit Hanging Slider

"Javier hit a hanging slider. As soon as I threw it, I wanted it back. It was the only bad pitch I made all day.

"The no-hitter is the one goal that has eluded me during this fabulous season. I pitched in the All-Star game, I won 20 games (22, to be exact) and I pitched in the World Series. I'll get that no-hitter some day."

The Red Sox certainly wouldn't mind if that day is ext Monday when Lonborg is scheduled to start the fifth game.

In the meantime, he'll have to recover from a blister on his right thumb.

"It developed in the seventh inning, and it hurt his breaking ball at the end," Boston Manager Dick Williams said. "But there never was any thought of taking him out. He had a calloused area on the thumb, and when he pitches as hard as he did today sometimes it splits open."

While Lonborg was closing the doors on the Cardinals, who had collected 10 hits in the first game, Yastrzemski was breaking the game open.

He led off the fourth inning by rocketing a one-strike pitch from Dick Hughes about a dozen rows into the right field stands. After Boston scored on Rico Petrocelli's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the sixth, Yastrzemski went to work again.

"I was going for home runs all way," the left-handed slugger said. "Against Gibson (St. Louis' Bob Gibson) I didn't go for homers because I didn't feel really sharp. I just wanted to lay the bat on the ball.

"But when you feel good, you naturally go for home runs, and I felt exceptionally good. I just wanted to hit one out, shake something up."

He evened something up, too.

Yaz, Lonborg Kiddingly Predict Star Performance

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski and Jim Lonborg, the big men on the Boston Red Sox, are a couple of pleasant fellows who like to kid with people, even going so far as making predictions in jest.

Now their crystal ball forecasts are virtually coming true in the World Series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I was kidding around and told someone I would hit two homers and get three hits today —but I was only kidding," Yastrzemski said Thursday after the Red Sox squared the Series at one game apiece with a 5-0 victory in Boston.

Yastrzemski, the American League's Triple Crown champion, made good on his prediction, belting a pair of homers, good for four runs batted in, and then singling in the eighth.

Lonborg just missed on his prediction, losing a no-hit bid on Julian Javier's two-out double in the eighth inning. Gentleman Jim had to settle for a one-hitter, only the fourth in World Series history.

For a while, it looked as if Lonborg would match Don Larsen, who pitched a perfect game in a 2-0 victory for the New York Yankees against the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1956.

"It was a good pitch, but I hit it just right," the slugging outfielder said. "I felt good, real sharp."

With runners on first and second and one out in the seventh, southpaw Joe Hoerner was summoned from the bullpen to pitch to Boston's left swinger. Yaz promptly unloaded on a 2-2 pitch and sent a booming shot into the bleachers beyond the Boston bullpen in right center.

In a similar situation just last Saturday, the Minnesota Twins called on southpaw ace Jim Merrit to face Yaz in the seventh inning. The result: a three-run homer in a 6-4 victory.

"The no-hitter is the one goal that has eluded me during this fabulous season," the lanky hurler said. "I pitched in the All-Star game, I won 20 and I pitched in the World Series. I'll get that no-hitter some day.

"I was joking about the no-hitter and going for it after we got that 5-0 lead," he said. "Then when Javier hit that hanging slider, it was agony for me—like someone sticking a knife through me. I was sick.

"Then Ellie (catcher Elston Howard) came out and told me to bear down. He said we had two outs and let's get the next batter."

Lefthanded Hurlers Can't Get Yastrzemski Either

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals can now join Manager Cal Ermer of the Minnesota Twins as a wrong guesser on how to pitch to Carl Yastrzemski.

Yaz proved both wrong by hitting three-run homers. His big blow in last Saturday's key game against the Twins wrapped up the victory 6-4 and sent the Red Sox on the way to the American League pennant.

His homer Thursday at Boston in the seventh, his second of the game, iced the victory for the Sox 5-0 and tied up the Series at one game apiece. The booming 430-foot homer in the Series came off Joe Hoerner who replaced Ron Willis when Yaz came to bat. His homer last Saturday against the Twins was off Jim Merritt, ace Minnesota reliever.

All the time his big bat was booming, Jim Lonborg, the big Red Sox right-hander, was setting down the Cardinals with mechanical precision. He had a perfect game going until he walked Curt Flood in the seventh, and a possible no-hitter until Julian Javier leashed a double to left with two out in the eighth. His sparkling one-hitter was only the fourth ever in a Series game.

Lonborg pitched with a painful blister on the thumb of his right hand from the seventh on. A callous area on the thumb split open under the pressure of the magnificent job he was doing on the mound, but no consideration was given to taking him out.

Yaz' first homer broke the ice for the Red Sox and put them in the lead 1-0. This was increased to 2-0 in the sixth when with one out, Hughes walked George Scott and Reggie Smith, and Jerry Adair was safe on Mike Shannon's error, loading the bases. Scott scored on Rico Petrocelli's sacrifice fly to center. The run was unearned because of the error.

Red Sox Scouting Pays Off

By BEN BROWN
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Dick Williams of the Boston Red Sox said the scouting reports on the St. Louis Cardinals worked perfectly Thursday.

"We knew what we should have done Wednesday," he said, "but we didn't do it."

The Red Sox whipped St. Louis 5-0 Thursday in Boston to even the 1967 World Series at a game apiece.

Manager Red Schoendienst of the National League champions said he planned no changes in his line-up for the third game. Williams had revamped the Boston line-up after the Red Sox dropped the first game 2-0.

In the St. Louis dressing room Thursday, there was more talk about Carl Yastrzemski's two homers than the brilliant one-hitter pitched by Jim Lonborg.

Dick Hughes, the starting Cardinal pitcher and second game loser, described Yastrzemski's first blast, a drive into the right field corner, this way:

"He hit a fast ball. I got the pitch about where I wanted it. You might say it was a half mistake and he made it a whole mistake."

The 29-year-old Hughes, a rookie, wasn't as sharp as normal, Schoendienst said. "And he tired some just before I took him out," the Cardinal skipper said.

Red Sox manager Williams said he wasn't concerned about the pressure of bouncing back from the first game loss.

"You should have been here during the season if you wanted to see some pressure," he said. Lonborg and Yastrzemski combined to give Boston a victory over Minnesota and the American League pennant on the last day of the season.

Elston Howard, a veteran of many World Series with the New York Yankees, said he called the pitch that Lonborg threw to Julian Javier and which was driven into the left field corner for a solid double. Javier's blow was the only St. Louis hit.

Len Dawson of Purdue is the only player to ever lead the Big 10 in passing three years in a row. He is also the only player to lead in total offense three years in a row.

Golden Bears, Leopards, Beavers At Home Tonight

12 Grid Games Slated In Area

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Though the Dayton Dunbar at East Liverpool football game tonight is the top attraction for local sports fans, there are nine games in the area tonight and three more tomorrow.

Oak Glen hosts Wheeling Central, Midland is visited by Seneca Valley and Beaver Local entertains United. Also, tonight Columbiana is at home to Canfield, East Palestine is at Lisbon, Leetonia welcomes Minerva, Southern Local hosts Greenford and Stanton Local travels to Adena.

Tomorrow afternoon South Side entertains Millvale and tomorrow evening Western Beaver takes on Avonworth at Midland and Crestview is home to McDonald.

Oak Glen won its first of the year last week after three losses, but Bob Starkey's club will be hard pressed to repeat this week. Central is 5-0, ranked sixth in the state and leads the Mountaineer League. The Knights have allowed only a total of six points in five games while averaging 25 a contest themselves. Pat Korsnick, their quarterback, was a preseason selection as one of the top 10 high school players in the country. He has scored 39 points and rushed for 201 yards. Top rusher for the Knights is George Sleime, who has amassed 504 yards and three TDs. Last week Sleime gained 124 yards as the Knights downed Follansbee 27-0. Follansbee beat Oak Glen 13-6, with Guy Casinelli hitting 9 of 18 passes. Central held Casinelli to 2 of 9 with 3 interceptions.

Midland and Seneca Valley match 2-2 marks. Seneca is a jointure of the Zelienople and Evans City school districts, and is a Class A school. The Raiders have beaten Freedom 31-20 and Moon 20-19 and lost to Beaver 52-6 and North Hills, an AA school, 14-6. Midland coach Joe Hamilton fears Seneca's passing attack. "They have a good quarterback and two good receivers and they pass 60-70 per cent of the time," he notes.

Frank Granito, who kicked the winning extra point last week for Midland despite a heel injury, will be able to play, though Pat McShane will start in his place at offensive tackle. Bill Love will be a starting defensive tackle in place of Paul Francis, who has a sprained ankle. Albert (Bub) Bynum suffered a bruised side in a reserve game, but it is hoped that he will be ready to see some action at halfback.

BEAVER LOCAL, 2-2, hopes to extend its winning streak to three against United, which won its first last week after three losses. Tom Woods is the big gun for the invaders, as he gained 277 yards rushing and also returned a kickoff 80 yards in the Golden Eagles' win over Springfield Local (Mahoning). Don Ross' club seems to be rolling now that Rex Campbell has returned at end to catch the passes of Dennis Klembara.

Columbiana, 4-0 overall and leading the Tri-County League with a 2-0 mark, plays a non-league foe in Canfield, 2-1-1. Bill Ward leads the runners of Ray Bellisari's team and George Lynn is the defensive standout. Canfield has beaten Poland 17-8 and Liberty 24-8, tied Salem 0-0 and lost to East Palestine 16-12. Columbiana topped Poland, the only common opponent, 28-6, and also beat Beaver Local, Carrollton and Minerva.

East Palestine at Lisbon is a battle for survival in the Tri County League, with both teams 1-1 in the loop and 3-1 overall. Bud Bucher's Blue Devils have beaten Southern Local, Youngstown North and Poland, while falling to Minerva. The Bulldogs of Bill Offenbacker started with wins over Canfield, West Branch and Sebring before losing to Leetonia last week. Lisbon has a fine backfield with Randy Muntean quarterbacking and Gary Toot, Bill Farmer and John Morgan running the ball. Joe Thompson and Joe Lewis are the leading rushers for East Palestine.

LEETONIA IS 4-0, but coach Dick Hartzell is worried about Minerva, 2-2. "Every other week they play well, and this is their week", Hartzell said. Indeed, the Lions beat Newton Falls 42-30 and Lisbon 32-0 four and two weeks ago while falling to Sandy Valley 32-8 and Columbiana 27-0 in between. Fullback Terry Walker and tailback Kim Elliott are backfield standouts and the Betts brothers, Sam and Steve, are tough in the line. Sam is 225 and plays offensive end, while Steve is 220 and plays offensive guard. Both play defensive tackle. The Bears are led by quarterback Ed Casey, halfback Ken DiCross, fullback Dan Bell and end Jim DeJane. They are not suffering any injuries.

Southern Local, 1-2, had last week off, and hopes to even its record against Greenford, 0-4. The invaders have lost to Jackson-Milton, Mineral Ridge, North Lima, and McDonald, all by big margins. Jack McPherson is a new coach at the school that has won only one game in 4½ years. Beau Bell's club lost to Lisbon 26-7 and Stanton Local 40-16 and squeezed in a 12-6 win over Springfield Local (Jefferson). Sophomore end Frank Francis has played well for the Indians so far.

Adena is another hapless foe, having scored only 6 points and given up 118 in four games. Stanton, 2-2, hopes to up that mark. Ken Woods' team has beaten Hopedale and Southern Local while losing to Mt. Pleasant and Wayne. Fullback Elmer Tice is the big noise for the Red Raiders.

South Side hopes to give Don Charlton his first victory as a head coach when Millvalle visits tomorrow at 1:30. The Rams are 0-4 and Millvale 1-2-1. Millvale fell to Rankin 20-0 and Sharpsburg 27-7, tied Neville 6-6 last week and beat Etna 13-0. South Side fell to Sharpsburg 38-6 last week.

Western Beaver, 2-2, takes on winless Avonworth at Midland at 8 p. m. The Antelopes have lost to Neville 26-13, to Crafton 40-6, to Etna 12-6 and to Avalon 33-7. Dan Sekeres' team, in its first league encounter with a Class B foe, has fallen to Midland 25-0 and Quaker Valley 19-0 while topping West Allegheny 19-13 and Mars 20-7. Joe Rasillo runs the Golden Beaver attack.

Crestview, 2-2, faces unbeaten McDonald in an Inter-County League game. McDonald has beaten Leavittsburg 26-6, Jackson - Milton 12-6, Western Reserve 28-14 and Greenford 40-0. Crestview fell to Mineral Ridge 30-6, beat Southington 32-6, blanked Lowellville 28-0 and was edged by North Lima 8-6 last week. Joe Remish is the top runner for Dick Scarborough's Rebels.

Disappointing Miami Faces Tulane Greenies Tonight

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The University of Miami's sputtering Hurricanes go after their first victory of the season tonight when they meet Tulane in the Orange Bowl.

Coach Charlie Tate plans to go with junior quarterback David Olivo in an effort to pull the Hurricanes, nationally-ranked in preseason polls, out of a two-game tailspin.

Tate alternated Olivo with senior Bill Miller in last week's 17-8 upset loss to Penn State.

The nations Big Three Southern California, Houston and UCLA—put three-game winning strings on the line against Stanford, North Carolina State and Penn State, respectively, in Saturday's headline games.

Miami was upended by Northwestern 12-7 and knocked out of the Top Ten in its season opener two weeks ago, then bowed to an alert, aggressive Penn State team in the Orange Bowl last Friday night.

Tulane, which dropped its first game to Miami of Ohio 14-3, bounced back last week and walloped North Carolina 36-11. It was the Green Wave's biggest point spree in seven years.

The Greenies, who tied Miami 10-10 last season at New Orleans, will be seeking their first victory in three trips to the Orange Bowl. They lost 26-7 in 1959 and 21-0 in 1964 at Miami and trail in the series 4-2-1.

Southern Cal's top-ranked Trojans, led by speedster O. J. Simpson, rate a three-touchdown choice over Pacific 8 foe Stanford Saturday night at Los Angeles. Houston's high-scoring Cougars, No. 2 in the nation, are top-heavy favorites to handle visiting N.C. State in another arclight test.

UCLA's explosive Bruins, with Gary Beban calling the shots, visit Penn State in an afternoon game and No. 4 Purdue, conqueror of Notre Dame last week, entertains Northwestern in a Big Ten opener.

Fifth-ranked Georgia plays host to South Carolina; No. 6 Notre Dame rebounds against visiting Iowa; No. 7 Nebraska is at Kansas State; No. 8 Colorado is at home against Iowa State and No. 9 Alabama takes on visiting Mississippi. No. 10 Texas Tech hosts Mississippi State in a night game.

Browns Choice Over Steelers

Rams, Colts, Packers, Jets Picked To Win

By JACK HAND

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams and Baltimore Colts should roll along toward their big battle in Baltimore Oct. 15 by knocking off the 49ers and the Bears this weekend as the pro football season begins to heat up in the midst of the World Series.

Green Bay figures to get even for that opening day tie with Detroit in the first rematch of the NFL season and Joe Namath should give that south Oakland defense more than it can handle at Shea Stadium.

An 8-4 record last week brought the season total to 25-9-1 (NFL 17-6-1 and AFL 8-3). Let's try again. All games are Sunday unless otherwise indicated.

NFL

Cleveland 24, Pittsburgh 21 (Saturday night)—Watch out for this one. Steelers always rough for Browns even when they were in the cellar but loss of Bill Nelsen was tough blow. Forget the whole bit if Frank Ryan's shoulder keeps him out. We'll take a raincheck.

Los Angeles 30, San Francisco 17—Might be spot for Ram letdown after tough Dallas test but this is war — San Francisco vs. Los Angeles. Rams won preseason game 34-7 and running attack even stronger than expected.

Baltimore 31, Chicago 14 — John Unitas has found a new target in Ray Perkins to go with Willie Richardson and John Mackey. Colts have most explosive offense in league and Bears have one of worst, except for Gale Sayers.

Green Bay 21, Detroit 10 — Lions ran up 17-0 lead on Packers in opener when Green Bay was lucky to get tie. Ailing Bart Starr gives way to Zeke Bratkowski. Packer defense will carry the day. They have given up only 27 points in three games.

Dallas 31, Washington 30 — They are fighting for first or a piece of first in the Capitol Division. Clubs split two wild ones last year, Cowboys winning 31-30 and Skins 34-31. Time for Dallas to get move on if it's going to successfully defend.

St. Louis 27, Minnesota 17 — Young Jim Hart came into his own last week against Detroit. Vikings still having troubles, except for fourth quarter, but Joe Kapp may help. Card defense showing signs of wear and tear.

Philadelphia 30, Atlanta 21 — Eagles hard to figure but Norman Snead should ruin Falcons' first home game. Atlanta can't keep that rush line off its passer.

New York 34, New Orleans 21 — And when were the Giants 10-point favorites last? Fran Tarkenton should have big day but that Giant defense still leaks. Giants' home opener.

AFL

New York 21, Oakland 20 (Saturday night) — If Namath is hot, the Jets should win by a nose. Oakland thinks this is the year and Raiders' stingy defense has given up only 28 points in three games.

San Diego 30, Boston 20 — Chargers won first game in San Diego by two touchdowns and get big break in transfer of second game to home stadium after World Series conflict in Boston.

Buffalo 14, Denver 10 — Bills still bogged down in bad slump but Broncos have given up 21 touchdowns in five games. That should be enough tonic to snap Buffalo out of it.

Kansas City 35, Miami 14 — Chiefs take it out on Dolphins after last week's loss to Oakland.

A. J. Vaughn Sets Record For Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — A. J. Vaughn's 555-yard pickup against the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee last Saturday has moved the Wayne State, Mich., quarterback into second place in total offense among the nation's small-college football players.

Statistics compiled by National Collegiate Sports Services showed today that Vaughn has gained 710 rushing-passing yards compared to 772 for the leader, Joe Stetser of Chico State, who won the title last year.

Steter, who is also the leader in pass completions with 72 in 137 attempts for 758 yards, has played three games. Vaughn has played only two. The latter's total offense yards against UW Milwaukee was an all-time high for a small-college player.

Doug Van Boven of Central, Ia., is another double leader. He scored four touchdowns against Upper Iowa and moved into a tie for first place in scoring with Charlie Williams of Arkansas AM&N. Each has 54 points. Van Boven also is No. 1 in rushing with 600 yards.

East Wins Grid Title

East Junior High won the city football championship yesterday with a 22-14 win over Westgate at Patterson Field.

Ralph Seevers was the star for the winners, scoring two TDs and an extra point and passing for the third touchdown. Seevers intercepted a pass and ran it 30 yards for the first score, he rolled out and ran 10 yards for the second TD and passed 35 yards to Jim Moore for the last East tally. Seevers rolled out and ran the conversion after the second touchdown and Steve Morris made the final extra point on a run.

For Westgate, Joe March returned a punt 65 yards for their first score and Randy McVay connected with Clete Payne on a 20-yard pass for another TD. McVay passed to March for the conversion. Bob Beem, center and linebacker for Westgate, played well.

The next shoot will be Sunday at 1 p. m. at the range.

May Name Lum Harris Brave Chief

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Luman Harris, who once yielded the Baltimore baseball managing job to Billy Hitchcock, was expected to be named Hitchcock's successor as field manager of the Atlanta Braves today.

The Braves called an afternoon news conferece at the St. Louis headquarters of the World Series. Braves Vice President Paul Richards previously had said the team would name a maager during the series.

Harris, who for years has been closely associated with Richards, has been the leading candidate for the job for more than a month although Hitchcock was fired only last week.

George Welsh, star quarterback at Navy 1953-55, is the offensive backfield coach at Penn State.

Pitt-W. Virginia Battle Expected To Be Sellout

By Ed Tunstall

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (AP) — There's no Little Brown Jug, or even a big one for that matter, at stake but a football series filled with memorable games will be renewed Saturday when Pittsburgh and West Virginia meet before a sellout crowd.

The expected 36,000 fans--only the sixth sellout in the 44-year history of Mountaineer Field—recall Pitt's last visit here in 1965. That game ended 63-48 with statisticians talking to themselves.

West Virginia's injury-afflicted squad will be out to hang up its fourth victory after being manhandled 23-6 by Syracuse last Saturday. End Bob Zambo, who suffered a broken arm on a punt return, is lost to the Mountaineers for the year. And Bob Siegfried, injured on the same play, is a doubtful starter, as is starting quarterback Tom Digon.

"No doubt about it, we've got our hands full," said West Virginia coach Jim Carlen. "We're going to go after them but we've got a lot of kids hurt.

Pitt has had its early season troubles under coach Dave Hart, like Carlen starting his second season as head coach. The Panthers took a 40-8 drubbing from powerful UCLA in the opener and bowed 34-6 to Illinois last weekend.

The West Virginians may be hurting but Hart has a healthy respect for the Mountaineers.

"I'm very much impressed with them defensively," Hart said, of the Mountaineers, "particularly their quickness."

Hart said West Virginia tailback Garrett Ford, who has been slowed by injuries all season, is "still the great threat he's always been.

"Ford may be injured but it was not apparent in any of the films I saw," Hart said.

In the over-all picture, Hart said the Mountaineers appear to be a much better team than last year when Pitt squeaked past them 17-14 for the Panthers' only 1966 victory.

Carlen gave at least a verbal shudder when he talked about the Pitt passing game.

Split end Bob Longo is a top offensive threat, Carlen said, while George Medich, moved to right end for the Panthers, will be another problem.

"And if Frank Gustine has a good day," Carlen said in referring to one of Pitt's quarterbacks, "Well, it's going to be tough, real tough."

Carlen said Ford may or may not see action Saturday. He said Ford has been working only lightly this week and everything depends on how his injured ankle responds.

Sophomore Garland Hudson, a 190-pounder from Newport News, Va., takes over as the starting quarterback with Digon a doubtful starter at best. Hudson, who spelled Digon in the first three games, has connected on 12 of 18 tosses for 139 yards and one touchdown.

The Pitt series is the oldest on the Mountaineers' schedule and is second only to Penn State for Pitt. The Panthers have won 42 while losing 16 and one game ended in a tie.

Dinner Will Precede Reunion Of Gridders

A dinner at 5:30 p.m. at the Elks Lodge will precede the reunion of the 1927 and 1928 East Liverpool High School football teams tonight.

The dinner will be served by Lady Elks. The old - timers then will board a bus to go to Patterson Field to attend the East Liverpool - Dayton Dunbar game. They will return to the lodge home by bus for a social hour after the game.

The 1927 and 1928 East introduced during the half-time ceremony. Taps will be sounded for 14 deceased members of the squads. The former players said friends of members of the two squads may attend the social hour in the grill room and meet Joe Hurst of New Philadelphia, who was the coach.

Dick Gibbs, a defensive halfback for Iowa, was credited with 49 unassisted tackles last season.

Sanders, Casper Lead Golf

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—America's Doug Sanders, Billy Casper and Gardner Dickinson and 22-year-old Englishman Brian Barnes went into the second round today as leaders of the 72-hole Alcan Golfer of the Year Tournament—and the weatherman predicted stormy conditions for the next three days.

Sanders, of Tulsa, Okla., Casper, of Peacock Gap, Calif., and Dickinson, of Lost Tree Village, Fla., all shot four-under-par 68s in the first round and the only English player to match them was young Barnes.

The sun was shining Thursday and there was only a slight wind as 19 golfers—11 Americans, seven Britons and New Zealander Bob Charles—began chasing the first prize of $55,000. Thats the biggest first prize ever offered in professional golf.

Stage Queen Shoots For 7th Straight

By The Associated Press

Queen of the Stage figures to have the Aqueduct stage pretty much to herself Saturday when she goes after her seventh victory in an unbeaten season.

The Ogden Phipps' miss, thought by many to be the best 2-year-old regardless of sex in trainer Eddie Neloy's barn, goes in the one mile of the $75,000-added Firzette — richest race on the national card.

The well named daughter of Bold Ruler-Broadway by Hasty Road has chalked up four stake triumphs. She won the Sorority at Monmouth, Astoria and Matron at Aqueduct and the Spinaway at Saratoga in her last out.

Aqueduct officials don't expect the Queen to have many rivals. As they looked over the prospective field Thursday, the only definite opponents they could come up with were Gay Matelda and Syrian Sea from C. T. Chenery's Meadow Stable.

2 IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our mother and grandmother who passed away one year ago today, Oct. 6, 1966. We miss you now, our hearts are sore, as time goes by we miss you more. Your loving smile, your gentle face, no one can fill your vacant place. — Sadly missed by children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren.

In loving memory of DALE THORNE who passed away October 5, 1953. Sadly missed by family and grandsons.

IN memorium of my father, William Hockenberry who passed away October 6, 1964. In my treasure chest of memories I locked up thoughts of you. Your loving ways and smiling face and things you used to do. Now and then when I'm alone, I open up this chest. And spend a while just thinking of my Dad who was the best.
—Mrs. Sam W. (Phyllis) Mountford

Junior Editors Quiz on MEDICINE

QUESTION: Who invented medicine?

ANSWER: Ancient, primitive people thought that disease was caused by evil spirits and should be treated by magic. More reasonable ideas came in with Egyptian times. But it was the Greek physician Hippocrates, the Father of Medicine, living in the 400's B. C., who first began the investigation and treatment of disease in a logical, scientific spirit. As scientific knowledge grew, medicine grew with it. The Roman, Galen, studied the workings of the body, a study carried much further by the Belgian Vesalius in the 1500's. In the early 1600's, a great stride was made by Harvey, an Englishman, who proved that blood circulates in the body. In the 1800's, medicine leaped ahead as Pasteur and Koch showed that disease was caused by germs. Joseph Lister used this knowledge to sterilize instruments—in surgical procedures. About the same time, anaesthesia, a way to put patients to sleep during an operation, was discovered. Then came such startling developments as X-rays, by which a doctor can see through a body, and penicillin, the first antibiotic, or wonder drug. These are only a few highlights in medicine's inspiring history; many other discoveries remain for the future.

Shots Exchangd In Area

Settlement Bids Awaited In Steelhaulers' Protest

Hopes for a settlement of the seven-week trucker strike and a halt to highway violence rested today on court action at Cleveland and a governor's meeting at Pittsburgh Monday.

An exchange of gunfire in California Hollow Thursday afternoon and reported shootings and vandalism yesterday and today marked the area highway situation.

A FEDERAL court order was to be sought today at Cleveland in an effort to stop the sniping and rock throwing which has marked the seven-state protest strike.

Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond Shaffer, who has invited governors of the strike - hit states to Monday's meeting, said he will attend "to get the true facts behind the protest."

Sniping at six rigs hauling steel from the Crucible Steel Co.'s Midland Division brought return fire from the rigs Thursday afternoon about 2 on the former Route 30 paralleling the Freeway.

Sheriff's deputies said a large crowd and many cars were at the scene near the Route 170 junction when they arrived.

They said the steel trucks had passed through East Liverpool from Midland and were proceeding west up the hill toward Route 170 when someone fired a rifle from behind a billboard on the north side of the highway.

The shot flattened a rear tire on the last trailer and the entire convoy stopped. Robert Galliger of Industry, Pa., said to be the owner of the rigs, was following in an automobile.

Deputies said they learned Galliger had a shotgun, jumped out of his sedan and fired at the billboard. Several men on both sides had guns, and a standoff developed from hillsides on either side of the road. Deputies said people told them there were "lots of guns," but the officers said there were none in sight when they arrived.

A woman called the sheriff's office at 2:05 p. m. to report fighting at old 30 and 170.

DEPUTIES said the crowd obeyed orders to disperse and the convoy proceeded north on Route 7 to Youngstown after the flat tire was replaced.

Ohio Highway Patrol cruisers and Sheriff's cars patrolled the highway and radioed Mahoning County authorities to patrol against possible trouble across the line.

Shortly after the incident, a truck-strike picket filed charges in eastern area court against Galliger who reportedly punched him in the face.

David O. Wilkinson of Wooster Ave., East Liverpool, charged that Galliger unlawfully threatened him in a menacing manner and unlawfully assaulted him.

Galliger and his rigs were in Mahoning County by the time Eastern Court issued a warrant for his arrest. The defendant cannot be extradited since the alleged offense is a misdemeanor.

A meeting was being held at Pittsburgh today by the heads of about 30 trucking firms nagged by the steelhaulers' strike in an effort to find a solution to the dispute.

The striking owner-operators have been pressing trucking firms in seven states for nearly two months in hopes they'll ask the Teamsters Union to reopen contract negotiations.

The strikers say their needs have been ignored by the Teamsters, but so far the union hasn't sat down with trucking firms.

The office of Gov. James A. Rhodes reported today that the attorney general's office will adopt a "wait and see" attitude before taking part in any court action in the strike by independent steel haulers.

A representative of the attorney general's office was to have gone into federal court in Cleveland today to join the national steelhaulers in asking for a federal court injunction to prohibit strike violence.

John McElroy, the governor's aide, said the Hobbs' Act under which the proposed action was to have been taken, "does not now seem the instrument to provide the proper grounds for action in this case."

"The Hobbs Act is a federal criminal statute providing penalties for interfering with commerce by threats or violence.

Much of the decision not to go to federal court at once, McElroy said, is based on what he

At Billingsley's Foodland

Safe Cracked At Store, Burglars Get Cash Haul

Pros Did It, According To Deputies

Currency Removed From Strongbox, Checks Scattered

Burglars battered and burned their way into a safe at Billingsley's Foodland in the St. Clair Shopping Plaza near Calcutta early this morning and escaped with an unknown amount of cash.

Deputy Sheriffs Herman (Cy) Wellman and Dan Gartland were completing their investigation late this morning. They said the intruders removed all the currency from the strongbox, but left some checks scattered on the floor.

The burglary was timed between 12:30 and 7 a.m. today. The sheriff's office at Lisbon was advised at 7:05.

Wellman said the burglars gained entrance through a skylight, then moved along trusses supporting the roof to a stairway.

The safe was opened by a combination of three methods—"peeling" the metal covering on the door, drilling at the combination and cutting the metal with an acetylene torch. The safe is located in the food market's office just inside the front door.

Wellman said the intruders left the building by a door after disconnecting the burglar alarm. Nothing else appeared to be disturbed. The burglars did not leave any equipment behind, but the deputies could determine the method of entry by looking at the front of the burned and battered safe.

Wellman commented that the safecracking definitely was the work of professionals.

Astronaut Killed When Jet Crashes

Major In Marines Said He Wanted To Be First On Moon

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — An American astronaut who said he wanted to be first on the moon and specialized in the craft that will make the trip was killed Thursday when his T38 jet trainer plowed into a hilltop near the Florida-Georgia border.

Marine Corps Maj. Clifton C. Williams Jr., 35, a member of the nation's third generation of astronauts, was flying alone from Cape Kennedy to Houston Manned Space Center by way of Mobile, Ala., where his father was reported ill.

Williams radioed the distress mayday signal about 2 p.m., and 10 minutes later a helicopter rescue crew from Moody Air Force Base at nearby Valdosta, Ga., arrived at the scene on a plantation near Miccosukee, Fla., 15 miles north of here.

"The plane disintegrated and the body disintegrated with it," said Air Force Maj. Joe Johnson of Moody.

Johnson said the fiery plane dove down so straight it singed trees but plunged between pines 100 feet apart without touching them.

A board of inquiry headed by the first American spaceman, Navy Capt. Alan B. Shepard, was named to investigate the crash by James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The closest Williams came to rocketing into space was as backup pilot for last year's Gemini 10 mission. Since then he had specialized in working on the Lunar Module, the craft that is to carry two Apollo astronauts to a landing on the moon.

Like the other astronauts, Williams was eager for space flight.

"I'd like to go on every one," Williams had said. "Of course, if you said which mission I would most like to have, I'd say the first lunar flight you can make from the standpoint of personal satisfaction and accomplishment."

Despite LBJ's New Tax Hike Plea

Congress Stands Ground On Spending Cut Demand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite another plea from President Johnson and a federal freeze on its pet public works projects, Congress shows no signs of increasing taxes before spending is slashed.

The administration added a new ingredient in the weeks-long test of wills between the President and Congress by suspending indefinitely some $3.5 billion worth of military building and civil public works programs.

The freeze, announced by the Defense Department, came as Johnson again laid responsibility for budget cutting on the congressional doorstep and said taxes should be raised to stifle inflation.

The public works freeze drew praise from Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, as "the kind of thing that's required."

To some congressional observers the freeze appeared an indication Johnson is beginning to yield to pressure that he take responsibility for cutting back or eliminating programs popular with hometown voters.

The stalemate over who should cut spending involves in part the determination by Congress not to be saddled with the blame for such cuts.

Byrnes cautioned, however, that the freeze could be lifted at any time since the money for such Army Engineers civil projects as flood-control dams, dikes and harbor improvements already has been appropriated.

"We'll need some assurances this isn't just window dressing," he said in an interview.

Johnson's renewed contention that Congress shouldn't delay action on his tax hike proposal until spending has been cut left apparently unmoved Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee.

"Unless there is substantial cutting in spending programs, I don't see how we can justify a tax increase," said Mills.

Byrnes took a harder line. "The President apparently hasn't got the message. The committee and the House sent a very clear message that spending must be cut."

Byrnes said the President determines spending priorities in sending Congress the budget.

"We need a new schedule of spending priorities and he better send us one soon," he warned.

Johnson told a hastily called news conference Thursday that failure to enact his tax boost proposal would feed an inflationary spiral he said would ultimately cost taxpayers far more than higher taxes.

He cited increased interest rates on short-term Treasury bills and high home mortgage and personal loan interest rates as indications a tax hike is needed to block inflation.

Noting Congress has passed only 4 of 14 appropriations bills in the first nine months of the session, the President said the administration can't intelligently decide where to cut spending until it knows how much money Congress intends to provide.

Blast 2 Targets Near Haiphong

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. pilots are taking advantage of good weather, to get in the heaviest blows they can at two key points where Communist war material enters North Vietnam—the port of Haiphong and railroad lines just below Red China, the U.S. Command said today.

Targets reported hit Thursday included a rail bridge 10 miles from China, a bridge leading out of Haiphong and a major fuel dump near the port. The raiders left a smoke column nearly two miles high at the dump, which had been on the Pentagon's restricted list and was hit for the first time.

It was the third straight day of strikes at rail links in the narrow valleys just south of China and the second of raids on bridges in Haiphong. Other targets included two more fuel dumps in the port area and the MIG airfield at Hoa Lac.

MIG 17s came up to challenge Navy planes striking Haiphong and at least one enemy plane was reported damaged in a brief dogfight. The U.S. Command said one F105 Thunderchief was lost and its pilot was missing.

Only scattered skirmishes were reported in the ground war in South Vietnam but Viet Cong guerrillas stepped up terrorism and assaults in the northern five provinces making up the 1st Corps area south of the demilitarized zone. The Communists appeared to be trying to weaken government control in the thinly held area.

Thirty-eight civilians died when two buses hit mines near Da Nang, a South Vietnamese district headquarters was heavily attacked and a U.S. Marine was killed and 14 wounded.

But the main action was in the skies over the North, where Hanoi claimed six American planes were downed Thursday and a total of 21 since Tuesday. The U.S. Command announced the loss of four planes.

With the scheduled shift in monsoon winds this month promising poor bombing weather over the North, it is evident that U.S. warplanes are trying to damage North Vietnam's supply routes so that they remain disrupted for some time. The list of Pentagon-approved targets has been gradually expanding and air commanders are being given permission for more frequent re-strikes in sensitive areas.

The stepped-up American pressure is meeting intensified barrages of Soviet-built ground-to-air missiles, heavy antiaircraft fire and more frequent encounters with the elusive North Vietnamese air force.

Crew Pushes Blacktop Job

Final Coating Set On 5th St. Segment

Crews of the Tri-State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry pushed ahead today with blacktop resurfacing of E. and W. 5th Sts., hoping that weather would permit them to apply the final course of the pavement.

Parking was banned again for the entire length of the project — from Sugar St. to Jefferson St. If the 5th St. phase of the work is completed in time, the contractor will move on to Broadway between E. 5th and 6th Sts. to apply the final course.

Part of the 5th St. phase was completed Thursday, despite rain. The final course of the pavement also must be applied on E. and W. 6th Sts. between Jefferson St. and Broadway.

The only part of the project on which the final course has been applied is Jefferson St. between W. 5th and W. 8th St. Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said the Jefferson St. work is finished except for some minor work on the approaches — the points where alleys and streets intersect the repaved portion.

Since no work was scheduled today on E. and W. 6th Sts., parking and traffic flow was normal on that segment. The work was launched Monday. It was slowed at the outset because rigs hauling aggregate were stopped by dissident truckers and the demands on the company's River Rd. blacktop plant exceed its output.

Stiff Fight In House Expected

Senate OKs Poverty Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's antipoverty bill has cleared the Senate with surprising ease but backers expect a far stiffer fight in the House.

The $4.66 billion, two-year extension of President Johnson's so-called "War on Poverty" drew strong bipartisan backing on Thursday's showdown vote after 11 days of debate.

The 60-21 tally sent the measure to the House where a quarreling Education and Labor Committee already is at work on it.

In addition to anticipated efforts in the House to slash the bill's total, a bid to break up the Office of Economic Opportunity, which runs the program, also is expected.

The Senate-passed total is equivalent to $155 over a two-year period for each of the 30 million Americans the administration says live in poverty.

Forty-one Democrats and 19 Republicans supported the extension bill and 9 Democrats and 12 Republicans voted against it.

The 39-vote margin represented a bigger majority than Senate antipoverty legislation won in 1965, when the vote was 61 to 29, or in 1966 when it was 49 to 20. The bill only authorizes the program. Separate legislation appropriating funds is under consideration.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., floor manager for the bill, said he was glad the Senate had given the bill some "wiggle room" by setting the OEO authorization for the present year at $2.258 billion, or $198 million more than Johnson asked.

Clark said this offers the opportunity for compromises with the House.

The Senate bill would provide funds for all present antipoverty projects including the Job Corps, Neighborhood Youth Corps, Community Action—which covers such programs as Head Start for preschool children—rural loans and aid to migrant workers plus assistance for small business in poverty-stricken areas.

The measure also contains several new features, such as day care for children of working mothers, a followup program to Head Start, incentives to private companies to train the hard-core unemployed and authority for local Community Action agencies to decide how half of the more than $1 billion allotted to Community Action shall be spent.

Saturday Afternoon Showers Predicted

The weatherman says it will be partly cloudy and cool tonight, with a low in the 40's.

The cloudy skies are due to continue Saturday, with the showers expected by afternoon.

There will be little change in temperature, however. Tonight's low will be in the 40's.

The Ohio five - day forecast says temperatures will average below normal in the state Saturday through Wednesday, with little day-to-day change. Highs will be in the 60's and lows in the 40's. The showers late Saturday through Monday will average one-half to one inch.

Driver Killed When Truck Takes Plunge

BEAVER — Donald E. Shook, 46, of Aliquippa RD 1, Independence Township, was killed instantly when his pickup truck plunged over a 25-foot embankment Thursday night along Route 151, five miles west of the Five Points intersection.

It was the 40th traffic fatality this year in Beaver County.

Officers said the victim failed to negotiate a curve. The truck cut across the highway, ripped through guardrails and went over the embankment, ending nose down in a small stream.

Mr. Shook was trapped in the wreckage and it required 30 minutes to free the body. He suffered a skull fracture.

Tax Burden Too Heavy

EL DORADO, Kan. (AP) — The tax burden finally became too heavy.

Will Share In Cost Of Work

County, Township Join In Grimms Bridge Job

LISBON — Columbiana County and St. Clair Township will unite in efforts this fall to correct a drainage problem which caused a "slip" last spring on the Grimms Bridge Rd.

One-way traffic was necessary for several weeks during March and April when the slide moved the road.

John Ursu, county engineer, says the cost estimate for replacing 400 feet of road and installing a paved roadside drain and a culvert under the road is $9,448.

The cost will be shared 50-50 by the county and the trustees, but, Ursu said, the trustees will be able to meet their share with a cash outlay of approximately $3,000.

Trustees Robert Simms and David Dray met Thursday with the county commissioners and Ursu at the Courthouse. All parties agreed to the arrangement.

Ursu said the beginning of work is contingent upon his office obtaining a work agreement with the property owner below the slip.

The Columbus Blank Book Co. received a contract to furnish tax return blanks for 1968 for the county auditor on a low bid of $2,950.

Bid Opening Set Today On Bridge Work

The Ohio Highway Department at Columbus was to open bids this afternoon at 2 on emergency repairs to the Ft. Steuben Bridge connecting Steubenville and Weirton.

The department's deputy director, Levi Kimball, head of Division 11 at New Philadelphia, said he has notified city officials of the two communities that five contractors had been interviewed and inspected the condition of the bridge floor.

Work being bid on consists of removing damaged portions of the floor and replacing these areas with new reinforced concrete. Quantities have been estimated, but the actual amount of work will be finally determined as repairs proceed, Kimball said.

An estimate of the completion date will be part of the contractor's bid and will be a factor

BUC Summary Given

County Posted Increase In Workers, Pay In '66

Employment and payrolls in Columbiana County showed increases during 1966 according to the annual summary of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation's Division of Research and Statistics.

The 1,055 employers reporting to the BUC showed a 4.1 per cent rise in workers and a 6.6 per cent boost in total pay for the year.

All major classifications showed increases except mining and quarrying which had a decline of 9.5 per cent in employment and 1.9 per cent in payrolls.

Other classifications, with the percentage of gain in employment and payrolls listed in that order, were:

Contract construction 16.2 and 28.9; Manufacturing 1.5 and 4.6; Transportation and Utilities 18.6 and 8.5; Wholesale and Retail Trade 4.3 and 7; Finance, Insurance and Real Estate 11.3 and 16.5, and Services 11.6 and 13.2.

The firms covered had an average total of 19,555 workers last year, and reported a total yearly payroll of $106.2 million.

THE REPORT does not cover such groups as agricultural labor, interstate railroads, government and domestic service, certain non-profit organizations and employers with fewer than three workers.

The latest report from the BUC showed a civilian workforce of 33,850 in the county for August, 1967. This figure included an estimated 32,250 employed persons and some 1,500 (625 women) looking for work.

Unemployment constituted 4.4 per cent of the labor force.

Three out of ten employed residents traveled to jobs elsewhere (1960 Census). Of the persons working in the county during August, one-third were in manufacturing. Leading industries are nonelectrical machinery, stone-clay-glass, fabricated metals, furniture, printing and publishing, primary metals, paper, and food.

Items turned out include chinaware, refractory products, firebrick, sewer pipe, structural and drain tile, rolling mills, pumps, rubberworking machinery, heat treating equipment, industrial grinding mills, blenders, vacuum dryers, kitchen equipment, plumbing fixtures, hydraulic valves, storage tanks, upholstered furniture, calenders, potato chips and pretzels.

AMONG the men seeking work through the local offices of the Ohio State Employment Service, almost two-fifths were registered for miscellaneous jobs and one-eighth were in machine trades.

One-ninth were clerical or sales personnel and similar proportions were recorded in both the structural work and farming and related categories. Nearly nine-tenths were not yet 45.

A number had been material handlers, stores laborers, and foundry workers. Also available were service - station attendants, heavy and tractor-trailer truck drivers, cleaners, and porters.

One-half of the women were qualified for clerical or sales jobs, one-fourth were service personnel, and one-ninth were grouped in the miscellaneous category. Two out of three were under 35.

Some had been dippers and finishers in pottery concerns and others were general office, general, and sales clerks. Also in supply were cashiers, clerk-typists, waitresses, and nurse-maids. In demand are teachers, registered and licensed practical nurses, medical technicians, stenographers, nurse aides, short order cooks, cooks, housekeepers to live in, and domestics.

Thomson Reveals He Said 'No' To New York Offer

TOKYO (AP) — Britain's Lord Thomson, publisher of 169 newspapers around the world, said he couldn't succeed in the New York City evening newspaper field even if someone gave him a paper. And he said one had been offered him.

Thomson, speaking at the Tokyo Foreign Correspondents Club, said he had been offered the now defunct World Journal Tribune for nothing if he would assume its financial responsibilities.

He said he seriously had considered the offer, but at last, reluctantly, turned it down.

The native of Canada, now a British citizen and a peer, said newspaper labor unions made it impossible for any independent publisher to succeed in New York, in his opinion.

"The New York Times and Daily News make so much money they can afford the union's demands," he said. "Any evening paper must also be able to meet them."

Father And Son Fined On Intoxication Cases

A father and son accused of attacking three persons without provocation Wednesday night on Dresden Ave. were fined $25 and costs each today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when they pleaded guilty to intoxication charges filed under state law.

The officers reported to the court that the police department "received three calls that these men were ganging up on strangers and beating them." The officers said Paul Baker said he and his son attacked the passersby "because we didn't like their looks."

Both had been free on bonds of $107.50 pending the hearings today.

Monthly Report Includes Day Of 'Killing Frost'

A low of 29 degrees on Sept. 25 was classified as a partial killing frost by Edwin Copeland, U.S. Weather Observer at Millport, in his September report.

The frost struck mostly in the lower areas, he noted.

A great deal of moisture is in the ground for fall planting, Copeland said, though the average rainfall for the month was 2.41 inches, .53 of an inch below the average amount for September (2.94 inches). Total rainfall for 1967 to date is 29.10 inches. The average rainfall for a similar period is 29.44 inches.

In a "hide - and - seek" display of autumn sunshine, eight cloudy, six partly cloudy and 16 clear days were logged. The average amount of sunshine is 65 per cent, Copeland said, but September was a bit "under the weather" with a 60 per cent showing.

A high of 83 degrees was recorded on Sept. 18 and the low was 29, the partially killing frost noted by Copeland.

Curb Trucker Turmoil

Use of a Federal court injunction to halt sniping, arson, vandalism and beatings in the current trucker strike should certainly bring to their senses the irresponsible men who have put danger on our highways in recent days.

The full power of a federal injunction is an awesome thing, and any sensible trucker should willingly cease and desist if such an order is issued when sought at Cleveland today.

The time is long overdue for a decisive crackdown against the turmoil and intimidation on the roads.

Thursday afternoon's gunplay in California Hollow and Wednesday's roadblocks in East Liverpool and elsewhere point up the extremes to which the truckers are willing to go.

It is not alone that this infringement upon the rights and safety of others is illegal and are outrages totally unrelated to the issues of steelhauling.

These furtive and overt offenses against peace and order are continuing with little apprehension or punishment, and can too easily serve as an example for similar patterns of labor pressure by unthinking men and women during disputes in the future.

Public streets and highways must be kept open and free from the threat of harm. The normal channels of economic life must not be blocked by disgruntled participant in unauthorized, unrelated strikes.

Law and order must be maintained now and in years to come along the roads of our nation, and if local police and state police are unable to cope with such a widespread problem, then the governors of each state or the courts of the federal government are obligated to provide the kind of protection the present situation demands.

A Man And His Friends

In the case of Carl B. Stokes in Cleveland, as was true of John V. Lindsay in New York, the toughest political problem is how to wriggle free of partisan identity.

Mr. Lindsay became mayor of New York by running as a one-time Republican, but independent of his party. Mr. Stokes won the Democratic primary for mayor against the opposition of his party's organization.

This has become the bold new idea in politics.

The two-party system that once could deliver massed votes to candidates tapped for success by party bosses is as extinct as Whigs and Copperheads.

In its place is the two-idea system, whose following changes from one election to the next. One side proposes, the other side opposes and vice versa. Party labels have nothing to do with it. They are usefuly only in getting a foot into the political door because formal compliance with the party system is incorporated in election law.

Inevitably, the remnants of the party system gravitate to successful candidates. When John Lindsay became mayor of New York City, Republican spokesmen claimed him as one of their own, though they would have forgotten his name if he had lost.

And now Cleveland's Democratic bosses, who did everything they could think of to lick Mr. Stokes and nominate Mayor Locher, are anxious to be friendly to the winner.

In the unspoken but often-thought-of words of Ohio's Frank Lausche, who has made a career of turning his back on Cleveland Democratic bosses, mayoral candidate Stokes is entitled to ask, "What friends?"

Lesson In Elementary Democracy

Nguyen Van Theiu's election as president of South Vietnam has been validated, but that doesn't make it final.

Large numbers of voters turned out in an effort to give birth to quasi-democratic process, but that doesn't mean it will live.

The United States is learning a valuable lesson in elementary democracy.

To force an unfamiliar and confusing form of government on a nation is to ask for failure.

One of the glaring weaknesses of a workable democracy in South Vietnam is the long tradition of local government. Each village had its head man who took care of local problems.

The idea of sending a delegate concerned about local problems to a remote government body under the federal concept must seem rather foolish to South Vietnamese villagers.

As soon as local problems fail to get solutions, or so long as the junta ruling concept continues as in the past, the South Vietnamese villager will shrug his shoulders in a nothing-has-changed attitude and wait for the next crusade to come along.

When it does—with its promise of something better—he will give it his support. It may be a pledge for restoration of the old life, a vow for progressive change; it may be called democracy, or Communism, or self-determination.

The same principle of overthrowing local rule in favor of federal government is giving emerging independent nations in Africa fits. The people know and understand only tribal rule.

Americans taught to revere democracy since childhood cannot see why everyone doesn't jump at the chance to get on the bandwagon. The simple truth is many people don't know what democracy is.

Many South Vietnamese people are uneducated and measure their success or failure by the amount of food on the table every day. Their wants are simple. How can they understand democracy?

Perhaps a democratic society will flourish in South Vietnam. We hope it does. We are willing to give it time.

But if it fails, our government and military leaders must face the question: Was the establishment of a democratic government process in South Vietnam in the interest of the people of that country, or was it to justify the Vietnam War to the American people?

TRUMAN TWILL

Letter From Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: Your Aunt Effie and I went to watch our local gridiron gladiators defend their sacred honor against an invasion of infidels.

It was a stirring experience.

We hadn't been watching football games recently. We didn't know about the vestal virgins screaming incantations and all but immolating themselves. They wowed us.

We didn't know about the serried ranks of warriors, some on crutches, some wearing bandages, the phalanxes of coaches, scouts and statisticians, the ambulance waiting in blinking-eyed readiness.

Not since we went to the Roxy on a vacation trip years ago had we seen so many lithesome dancing girls eager to sacrifice themselves in any way necessary to stop the infidels short of their foul purposes. It appeared to us if we could apply comparable zeal to the crusade against dastardly Communism the issue would be settled.

After the incantations had been sent winging heavenward, the musicians had blown their hearts out and the dancing girls had sunk down to earth exhausted like dying swans, the warriors took over.

It's something like a bullfight. After everybody else has had his moment of glory, including the bull, who gallops out in the happy illusion he is being let out to pasture, the moment of truth arrives.

The bull and the bullfighter face off and go for broke. The horrendous moment of truth arrives. Bodies hurtle into bodies. Bones creak and crack. Blood flows.

The vestal virgins prostrate themselves in evidently appeal for divine intervention. Electronic equipment crackles and rumbles. All the talent of technicalized civilization is brought to bear on a single purpose — victory at any cost.

Then there is a breather while massed hordes croon paeans of passionate love for alma mater, long may she live. Everybody elbows his way to the sacrificial altars for remnants of weenies and other religious tokens.

The second half found us two aging votaries getting rump-weary. Our condition was aggravated by certainty that our gladiators were going to leave the field with their honor intact. The invaders were victims of their own malice. They were ragged and inept.

We are glad we can hold our heads high until the next home game. Our gladiators, they assured us over the mighty bull-horn, will be invaders for the next few years and will be fought off to the last breath of sacred honor by defenders of neighboring enclaves.

This is a neat arrangement — that heroes are only heroes at home but vandals when they go abroad. This is the territorial imperative you keep talking about — the thing that makes it possible for the defenders of Vietnam to beat off the United States, though we plainly have the better team. They are fighting for their own ground.

Well, be that as it may, we went home, ate pumpkin pie, drank scalding coffee and felt that virtue had emerged triumphant. I guess that is the idea. Isn't that what the pigskin pageant is all about? Honor. Stuff like that.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Mail call, of course, is the largest "morale booster" for the soldiers. I know this, for I am a mail clerk and whenever the mail is passed out, these troopers are really happy.

One of the events that makes our lives cheer up is the correspondence we receive from the Oakland Free Methodist Church. We receive recording tapes as well as letters and boxes of "goodies" from this church in East Liverpool.

We believe it is very good of these peple to take time to do this deed for us servicemen overseas. Also, our opinion is that if this could be done by more churches everywhere, many more defenders of the nation could find Mail Call better than ever.

I am from Sterling, Ill., and came to Baumholder in May 1966.

Corresponding with the Oakland Free Methodist Church has led to rewarding new friendships. This church is "really on the ball." They have 25 servicemen they write to.

Mr. Harvey Kirchner, who is serviceman director, is doing a very good job.

VICTOR RIESEL

Union Status For Baseball

NEW YORK: — One of these baseball championship seasons the strikes called will be outside — not inside — the stadiums of the land. World Series ducat holders, arriving for a long, hot dog laden afternoon, will face pickets, not pitchers.

Victor Riesel

In the mood of the times, the major league athletes — like doctors, scientists, space technicians, Hollywood writers and TV profiles — have built themselves an organization which is a labor union in everything but name.

It's the way of all flesh now. The ball players are taking their grievances to the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB). They're fighting for a guaranteed annual minimum wage — $12,000 yearly against the current seven grand and the owners' offer of an eventual $8,500. They're arguing for updated grievance machinery, an impartial industry arbitrator, increased "Murphy Money" to match the cost of living, and a firm voice in scheduling. They're even talking about the supply of clothes and uniforms.

Leaders of the Major League Baseball Players Assn., under their comparatively new Executive Director, Marvin Miller, fresh out of the United Steelworkers union inner sanctum, are sounding so much like a union now, the owners have taken on a bright labor infighter themselves. He's John Gaherin, former president of the Publishers Association of New York City, who was in charge of headaches — generally known as negotiating with the big city's newspaper unions. So, now on the mounds are Marv Miller of Pittsburgh and Jack Gatherin of the owners' player relations committee.

GATHERIN WON'T FIND Miller any less adept at pitching curves in this field. This has become razor sharp since the restricted distribution of a seven-page Statement of Policy by the Players Assn. "to be used as a guide in the forthcoming negotiations with the Major League Clubs."

Buried in the virtually unreported statement is the signal for the Executive Board's big pitch. For it says that, against the increase in ticket prices, the higher take in TV royalties, and the ever-rocketing game attendance, "it is difficult to be modest in making proposals."

After a considerable listing of immediate demands during this current negotiations season, the players say that they "look for an appropriate resolution of this problem in the immediate future."

Translate this into a set of demands in "rubber, steel, auto," and you have a discussion of speed of production of the product, in this case the ball game.

The players want in on what affects their daily living, their appearances, their travel, even on the length of the fall season. And they want to see that schedule a week before the World Series games so they can bargain on the upcoming season.

THEY DON'T, for example, want day doubleheaders following a night game. Split doubleheaders should not be scheduled or rescheduled. "Twi-night" doubleheaders should not be scheduled or rescheduled just before a day game. Night games should not be scheduled or rescheduled on getaway dates if either club has a day game on the morrow in another city.

They want all games starting later than four o'clock to be considered night games. Low temperatures and high winds should be given more recognition in determining whether a game should be postponed and "minimum standards" should be adopted. There should be a day off for clubs traveling between cities in the Eastern Zone and those in the Western Zone. There should positively be no one-day stands. And no games should be played during the "three-day All Star Game Break."

They want the preliminary schedule for following seasons shown to the players' representatives about this time of the year.

They want a joint study committee established consisting of representatives of the Association and the Clubs "to review and discuss the merits and disadvantages of shortening the playing season."

This is the trail of the steel industry's Human Relations Committee developed by Marvin Miller and an erstwhile lawyer, Arthur Goldberg. Undoubtedly the ball players will live better during preseason training and the long haul to the World Series. Slowly the club owners will begin sitting with those many industrial executives who go to all those management seminars.

Yes, Virginia, there was a Babe Ruth.

Odd Facts

Providence, the settlement from which the state of Rhode Island grew, had the world's first government in which all men had an equal voice in state affairs. Rhode Island was the first of the 13 colonies to declare its independence from Great Britain, but it was the last to sign the U. S. Constitution, because it insisted on amendments that protected the rights of smaller states.

Of all the history's countless wars, the longest was "The Hundred Years War" between England and France. It lasted from 1338 to 1453, or 115 years.

The largest coral atoll in the Pacific Ocean is Christmas Island, lying 1,334 miles south of Honolulu and 120 miles north of the equator. Capt. Cook discovered this island on Christmas Day, 1777.

Gag Rules

Members of the Senate are beginning to realize some of the speeches made demanding peace in Vietnam are being misconstrued in Southeast Asia as a sign of weakness.

With the approaching presidential contest, the impression has been created that the American people in the midst of a war will vote against their President and in favor of an opposition candidate who presumably favors surrender.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, assistant Republican leader, who recently visited Vietnam, has just made speech deploring wide spread misrepresentation of America's policy in Southeast Asia:

"Domestic American politics does not offer a satisfactory basis for a winning strategy in world affairs. North Vietnam, unable to win a military victory, seeks a political one. She counts on our moral paralysis in the face of mounting pressure for peace of almost any kind in connection with next year's elections.

"I SPEAK both as an American and as a Republican. What this administration does to demonstrate to the Vietnamee, both North and South, that America's commitment is enduring, will have, I sincerely believe, the support of the American people, and surely, of this United States senator. It is far too late in the day to throw away what free people have fought valiantly to achieve in Southeast Asia.

"America must not sully her commitment to the security of free Asia by groping for a nameless settlement. We seek an end that will leave the people of South Vietnam in lasting freedom and independence."

Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, Republican leader, also has spoken out in criticism of senators advocating virtual retreat in Vietnam. He favors a "firm policy"

Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Democrat, who has just returned from a trip to Vietnam and other countries in Asia, warned in a Senate speech Tuesday that cessation of U.S. air raids against North Vietnam would "guarantee additional casualties in South Vietnam."

He urged, instead, that the United States announce a cessation of all military action in Vietnam as of a certain date and, at the same time, declare that if, after military action were suspended, the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong nevertheless continued hostilities, then "the United States would feel free to pursue this war in any manner of its own choosing."

This would amount to making a truce calling for a halt of military operations or reinforcements by either side after a specific date.

IT WOULD demonstrate to the world the good faith of the United States. If the North Vietnamese did not adhere to the truce immediately, it would make inevitble the use of maximum military power thereafter by the United States and its allies to bring the war to an end.

The position of both political parties is slowly being clarified.

The Republican party is by no means in favor of a surrender in Vietnam, and neither is the Democratic party.

Some Senators believe they are reflecting sentiment back home in making speeches demanding "peace negotiations." But they do not take into account that, unless there is a reciprocal action—as President Johnson has outlined —the enemy will construe the whole thing as the beginning of a process of appeasement and surrender.

So the movement on the part of Sen. Dirksen and Kuchel — Republican leaders in the Senate — and Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Democratic leader, to deal with the Vietnam problem without political partisanship is a constructive development.

It could discourage the North Vietnamese from seeking to prolong the war until the 1968 election. The sooner they realize there is a sincere attempt to negotiate peace, the better it will be for all the people of Vietnam — in the North as well as the South — and for the people of Southeast Asia, as well as the United States.

Man's 'Poor' From Burns In Explosion

A Rochester man is in "poor" condition today with severe burns suffered when the home of his brother and sister-in-law was damaged heavily by a gas explosion Thursday at 11:10 p.m.

Ronald Gaus, 28, was admitted to Rochester General Hospital following the explosion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gaus. Authorities estimated $20,000 damage to the four-apartment home.

Ronald Gaus was lying on the couch in the living room, watching television, when the explosion occurred. All the windows and doors in the house were blown out.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaus were not at home. The other apartments were occupied, but no one was injured.

The front door, which leads to the upstairs apartments, was blown off the edge of the porch.

Neighbors entered the house and found Gaus standing, badly burned by the flash of fire. Some curtains were burning, but the flames were extinguished before firemen arrived.

Fire Chief Kenneth Haney said a three-eighth-inch gas line was found open about five feet from where Gaus was lying.

Golfer Frank Beard set a PGA season record by playing the Hartford and Westchester, N. Y., tournaments without getting a bogey on 84 straight holes. He was 70 or under in Hartford's four rounds yet only tied for seventh.

Hancock Society Meets

Life Of Johnny Appleseed Discussed At Meeting

The life of Johnny Appleseed was discussed by a descendant, Frank Chapman of Wellsburg, during a meeting of the Hancock County Historical Society at New Cumberland Thursday.

Chapman spoke to 50 in the Hancock courthouse.

Chapman, an insurance agent, said his great - great - great-grandfather, Nathanial Chapman, was a half-brother of Johnny (Chapman) Appleseed. They were among 10 children who lived at the family homestead along Route 21 near Dexter City, Ohio, about 25 miles northwest of Marietta.

Chapman said he often wore ragged trousers and walked in his bare feet, carrying a Bible.

His habit was to plant not just one tree, but an entire nursery, Chapman related.

Chapman said Johnny also was familiar with the common medicine of the time and, with the help of a Dr. True, fought an epidemic.

Chapman said Johnny often was referred to as the family's "only crazy relative," but he prefers to think of him merely as eccentric.

Johnny Appleseed was born in 1774 and died in 1845.

Chapman said most of Johnny's tree planting took place along the Muskingum, Licking, Tuscarawas and Walholding Rivers. But, some of his largest nurseries were in the vicinity of Ft. Wayne, Ind. When he died, he owned property in Adams, Allen and Jay counties in Indiana.

Chapman said some people believe Johnny was graduated from Harvard University, but since he is not registered there, he suspects that is only a part of the legend surrounding his life.

Johnny was reported to be a friend to every Indian and aided them in planting apple trees.

He obtained most of his seeds from Elizabeth, Pa.

HAIR TRANSPLANTION
Q. Is the new method of treating baldness by hair transplantation successful?
A. Apparently so. The method, employed in an estimated 10,000 patients over the past 10 years, is based on the fact that hair follicles can be removed from one area of the scalp and placed in another without inhibiting growth of the hair. The frequency and duration of visits to the doctor for transplantation are determined largely by the extent of hair loss and the amount of restoration desired by the patient.
Note from C.D.: I hope you continue to warn people against treating themselves. More than a year ago I developed a small sore on the bridge of my nose. I used various home remedies which seemed to help for awhile. Finally, when the sore became enlarged, I consulted a physician. The diagnosis couldn't have been worse — it was cancer!
Dear C. D.: Do-it-yourself treatment can be, and often is, disasterous. Thanks for your letter, which we hope all Medical Mirror readers will heed.
Answers appearing in these columns are of necessity brief and general and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all physicians. Remember—the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

Council OK's New Play Site For Ohioville

The decision was made to develop a recreation area on Forestdale Dr., near the old pumphouse, when Ohioville Council met Thursday night.

The legislators authorized Daniel Baker Jr., borough engineer, to draw up plans and estimates for grading and laying drains on the property immediately.

Another land parcel on Bear Ln. Dr. will not be developed at the present time, however, Council advised, because of the larger amount of expense involved.

Mayor Elmer R. Gifford, chairman of the recreation committee, said several meetings were held before the decision was reached.

George Daniels Jr., road committee chairman, said two battery - operated emergency light units have been purchased for the Fire Department and two no parking signs are being erected at the front of the fire hall so trucks will not be blocked.

Mayor Gifford reported 464 signatures have been obtained on a petition for a new post office in Ohioville, but many more are needed from tne 3,050 population.

The September police report included 26 complaints and 8 arrests for auto violations.

Baker reported on the salt stabilization road improvement program, which is nearing completion at a cost of $13,000.

Richard Rice, finance chairman, gave a tentative report on the 1968 budget, which will be acted on at the next meeting and given final approval at the Nov. 20 session.

Last year's budget totaled $53,000. Bills totaling $3,490 were paid. F. Paul Dawson, president, presided. The next regular meeting will be Nov. 2 at 8 p.m.

New Date Set In Theft Case

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today ordered a continuance until Monday at 9 a.m. in a scheduled hearing for Rodney Eugene Gilkinson of Cannons Mills, accused of stealing a pay telephone and damaging other property early Sunday morning in the Patterson-Wetzel Laundromat on St. Clair Ave. near Grant St.

A hearing previously had been scheduled Monday for the second defendant in the same case —David Cunningham, 19, of 2nd St.

Both are named in affidavits signed by Lt. Paul A. Burson Jr. and Patrolman Leonard Richard. They are accused of stealing an Ohio Bell Telephone Co. instrument valued at $144.85 and malicious destruction of property worth $125.68 inside the building, including a pane of glass, woodwork and a clock.

The two officers filed charges against Gilkinson on Tuesday and Cunningham on Wednesday. Appearance bonds were set at $1,000 in each case. Gilkinson is represented by G. William Brokaw.

Richard said he interrupted a theft at the laundromat at 3:43 a. m. Sunday. As his cruiser approached, two men fled from the building, abandoning the telephone on the sidewalk, and then disappeared over a wooded hillside at the rear, he reported.

Bridge

in awarding of the contract. Kimball said he hopes the work can be done within six weeks. He noted, however, that as with repair of all older structures unforeseen factors can influence completion.

Bridge engineers were on the site Thursday interviewing the contractors as they arrived to make their inspections.

The Ft. Steuben span, that was closed to traffic last week due to failure of portions of the concrete deck while the resurfacing contractor was removing the existing pavement, was built in the period 1926 to 1928 by the Dravo Corp. of Pittsburgh. It was constructed as a private toll bridge for the Ft. Steuben Bridge Co.

In 1947, the suspension structure that spans the Ohio River between Steubenville and Weirton was taken over by the Ohio Highway Department. In 1952 the Ohio Bridge Commission assumed ownership of the bridge and tolls were imposed to pay for major relocation work of the Ohio approaches. Again in 1960 the Ohio Highway Department received ownership of the structure.

Meanwhile, Jack Adams, secretary of SWATS for the Weirton-Steubenville area, said he has not received official word from the Pennsylvania Railroad concerning the possibility of using a train shuttle service between Steubenville and Weirton while the bridge is closed for repairs.

Transporting the thousands of workers across the river was proposed the first of this week by both SWATS and the emergency committee handling the traffic snarl.

Police Chief Robert Cornelius at Steubenville said the area will face a major traffic jam the evening of the annual Weirton - Steubenville football game and suggested some kind of shuttle service. He said trains might serve this purpose.

Robert Leech of the Steubenville Bus Co. said his firm is prepared to have 30 buses to be used to shuttle spectators for the game. He said another 30 would be on the West Virginia side.

Capt. Meriwether Lewis was the actual leader of the Lewis and Clark Expedition. Lewis was selected by President Jefferson and he, in turn, chose Clark as his associate.

believes to be an overall improvement in the strike situation.

He said Thursday night was relatively "uneventful" in Ohio, that new tactics of the Highway Patrol in deployment of forces has helped ease the situation, and that the steel haulers themselves are adopting some new tactics whereby some independent non - strikers merely pull their trucks off the road and report in to their offices and thus become eligible for time and a half overtime.

McElroy said he understood that the strikers are no longer aiming at any truck traffic except the non-striking steel haulers, and that incidents of violence are dropping off.

IN PENNSYLVANIA, Gov. Shafer ordered State Police Commissioner Frank McKetta to take a personal hand in directing reinforced patrols in western Pennsylvania, a hotbed of violence.

But the steel industry, which ships more than 50 per cent of its products by truck, was still feeling the economic pinch and other industries — from highway builders to grocery stores —were beginning to feel the affects as the strike closed off supply and delivery lines.

The Ohio Contractors Association said $154 million in highway projects were stopped and another $81 million were jeopardized. The western Pennsylvania Heavy and Highways Contractors Association said millions of dollars of construction projects were snarled and 4,000 tradesmen idled because concrete shipments were halted.

In Pittsburgh, sheriff's deputies rode shotgun to get bread delivered to a supermarket chain north of the city. Restaurants and hospitals at Cleveland say they're having trouble getting frozen foods and fresh meat.

The wildcat strike by 10,000 to 20,000 independent truckers cut back steel production by 30 per cent last month, according to Iron Age magazine.

The child was not hurt when found at 10:45 p.m. authorities said.

The camporee will offer Scouts an opportunity to work on first- and second - class advancement and also merit badge projects.

An advancement program is the theme of the camporee, with Fred Luhrs and James McGowan, advancement chairmen, in charge.

Trial Slated In Arson Case

LISBON — Harry L. Knight, 32, of Minerva will have to stand trial in Columbiana County Common Pleas Court on a charge of arson — an indictment returned by the April grand jury.

After the indictment, Knight pleaded not guilty and was released under $2,000 bond. On May 3, he pleaded guilty to a charge of malicious burning of his mobile home near Summitville last Dec. 31 and asked for probation.

At the probation hearing Thursday, Knight told Judge Raymond S. Buzzard he had not started the fire, so the court entered a plea of not guilty for him and ordered the case set for trial.

James D. Primm Jr., assistant prosecuting attorney, said the state will proceed with the arson indictment rather than the malicious burning charge. Both charges cover the burning of the home, but the latter charge was in the form of prosecutor's information. The prosecutor's office intended to drop the arson indictment after disposition of the lesser charge.

Martha Hanley, 29, of Salineville, who pleaded guilty to forgery charges last May, was placed on probation for five years. Judge Buzzard ordered her to make restitution at $5 per week. She owes three defrauded stores $146.

Roosevelt Cerney, 39, of Cleveland appeared before Judge Joel H. Sharp Wednesday to plead not guilty to a grand larceny indictment. He is accused of taking approximately $600 from an open cash register in a checkout lane at Mason's IGA Foodliner in Wellsville last July 8. He dropped the money when the manager shouted and advanced with a pistol.

Defendants who have pleaded not guilty to indictments made by the September grand jury will go on trial before Judge Sharp, beginning Oct. 16.

Defy Court Injunction

Nonteaching Ohio State Workers Continue Strike

By DON BANDY
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hundreds of defiant nonteaching employes at Ohio State University voted Thursday night to continue an illegal strike with hopes of upsetting normal operations on the huge campus and force the university to meet their demands.

The employes chose to defy a court injunction ordering them back to work. They also were warned in registered letters sent by the university they will be fired if they remain on strike.

But picket lines were reestablished Thursday night following a meeting of Local 138, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes.

The university said it would have no comment on its next step until after officials meet this morning with attorneys. Ohio State has granted an injunction Thursday by Common Pleas Judge Myron B. Gessaman ordering the strikers to return.

"We're ready to stay out as long as necessary," said Michael Fuscardo, local president. "We're prepared to take our stand and stay with it and even go to jail if necessary."

The university said the strike —in its second day—is illegal under Ohio's Ferguson Act banning strikes by public employes. University officials said, however, they have already made plans to continue functioning as usual for the more than 37,000 students on the campus near downtown Columbus.

Some students living in dormitories have been "assigned" extra chores because custodial employes are among the strikers. They have been given duties to sweep the floors and others to empty wastebaskets.

The union suid 3,000 employes joined the strike Thursday, but the university placed the figure at around 1,000. The union said 1,600 of the school's 6,000 nonacademic employes are union members.

Five of the eight dormitory cafeterias were closed Thursday. Frederick Stecker, director of public relations for Ohio State, said this was preplanned.

The only other immediate effect the strike has had so far, one school official said, was "some reductions in outside deliveries to the campus.

The striking workers have asked for support from the students, urging them not to attend classes and join the picket lines. "We're fighting for self-survival," said Fuscardo.

The employes are demanding a 10 per cent pay raise, binding arbitration of disputes, paid hospitalization, free parking and free meals for food service workers.

The university said it would cost $5.5 million to meet the union package and student fees would have to be raised $80 a year. This is on top of a $15-per-quarter fee increase already requested by the university to meet other needs.

Talks In Pittsburgh Hotel Strike Launched

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Talks are reported underway again to resolve the walkout of over 600 employes at Pittsburgh's Penn-Sheraton Hotel. Labor and management are both quiet about the meetings.

The hotel has been virtually closed, except for permanent residents, since the strike began Sunday.

The unions–representing hotel and restaurant employes and bartenders–want a "no sale" clause in the contract. The Penn–Sheraton management is balking at this clause.

Ratings Hit TV News Programs

Hal Humphrey

ABC apparently is looking for someone to replace anchorman Peter Jennings, who in his nearly three years with the network hasn't been able to make an appreciable dent against CBS' Walter Cronkite or NBC's Chet Huntley and David Brinkley.

NBC itself must have been experiencing some jitters.

For the first time in nearly 11 years it has broken up the Huntley-Brinkley format by bringing newsmen Sandy Vanocur, John Chancellor and Jack Perkins into the studio to comment from behind desks with H&B. To cap it off, a recent Nielsen rating gave Cronkite one of the biggest leads he's ever enjoyed — a 14.2 to H&B's 11.6.

This must amuse Cronkite, who looked to be headed for the TV newsmen's bone heap three years ago. His rating versus H&B at the 1964 Republican convention in San Francisco was low enough that CBS management ran in the team of Bob Trout and Roger Mudd to anchore the coverage from the Democratic convention.

Fortunately for Cronkite, the team of Trout & Mudd fared no better, so he kept his anchor seat on the week-night CBS news.

IT IS ODD that ABC's Jennings hasn't fared better in this league. He is young, handsome and articulate. As a politician these qualities would endear him to millions of TV viewers, but maybe for news the viwers prefer an older and sterner type.

Also, of course, in Jennings' case his rating is hampered by ABC's not having as many outlets as CBS or NBC. Many ABC stations carry the Jennings news on a delayed broadcast basis, which means in many markets he follows Cronkite and H&B.

A Canadian, Jennings' English pronunciation of words like schedule as "shed-ul" could be alienating some viewers, especially in the Midwest where there seems to be less tolerance for such deviations.

NEITHER ABC News president Elmer Lower nor vice president William Sheehan (currently filling in for Jennings during the strike) would comment on Jennings beyond stating he will stay until the end of the year.

Jennings, incidentally, has been outspokenly critical of the "star" system in TV news programs and the confinement he feels, as a newsman, because of it.

As for Jennings' succesor, it will be interesting to see whom ABC picks. The choice undoubtedly will indicate which way the network intends to emphasize its news policy, that is, toward the news or the personality of the anchorman.

EDWARD P. MORGAN, who recently took a leave of absence to become part of educational TV's new Public Broadcast Laboratory, would have made a good choice.

Howard K. Smith, who left CBS to join ABC several years ago, is a top reporter. He was sidetracked after doing a news special titled "The Political Obituary of Richard Nixon" following Nixon's defeat in California's gubernatorial race of 1962.

The presence of Alger Hiss on the program kicked up considerable fuss, and Smith's chores at ABC since then have been restricted.

Frank Reynolds, who comes from ABC's Chicago station and subbed for Jennings while the latter was in Europe a few weeks last summer, probably has the inside track. He is a good reporter, although perhaps not as good looking and personable as Jennings.

OBVIOUSLY no changes are in the works at CBS News. Cronkite and commentator Eric Sevareid with his two- or three-minute analyses have no successors being groomed in another part of the building.

At NBC there's a definite trend to de-emphasize the Huntley-Brinkley team, but unless their ratings tumble they're still going to be the core of NBC's network news program.

Huntley has hinted he might be interested in politics, so this could be another reason for NBC's opening up the H&B Report to include other faces.

There are those observers, too, who claim Huntley hurt his rating with many trade union members when he failed to go on strike with his union of actors and newsmen last spring.

Cleveland Apartment Fire Claims Man, 43

CLEVELAND (AP) — Saul Gregory, 43, of Cleveland, died Thursday night in a fire that started in his third-floor apartment, firemen said. Five other persons fled the building. No injuries were reported.

Firemen said Gregory apparently was asleep in a chair when the fire broke out.

Damage was estimated at $500. Cause was not determined.

Betty Furness is to make her first visit to Ohio as special assistant to the President Johnson on consumer affairs. She will be keynote speaker at the session.

COPE Endorses Stokes In Mayor Race On Nov. 7

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Committee on Political Education (COPE) of the Cleveland AFL-CIO has endorsed Democrat Carl B. Stokes for the mayor of Cleveland in the Nov. 7 election.

The name of Seth C. Taft, the Republican nominee, was not mentioned.

Taft said he would take his program to the union membership. He said he had walked the St. Luke's Hospital picket lines and charged that the committee had endorsed Stokes before hearing anything about his programs or the issue.

James E. O'Meara, COPE chairman, said Stokes told the committee that he will put the issue of selling the Cleveland municipal light plant to the voters in a referendum.

O'Meara also said Stokes promised labor its "fair share of committee appointments" at city hall.

Average Weekly W. Va. Earnings Led U.S. By $2

Non-farm employment in the state rose 10 per cent in the past five years. Mining jobs declined, but jobs in government, manufacturing and construction increased, resulting in an overall increase in employment from 470,000 jobs in 1958 to 492,300 in 1966.

Group Backs Recreation Plan At Park

The Oak Glen Boosters Club has pledged its support for a proposed state project for the construction and maintenance of softball and baseball fields at Tomlinson Run State Park. The members instructed Secretary Carl Covert to notify the Hancock County commissioners of the action.

In other business, Paul Clunk reported there currently remains $243.25 outstanding for football program advertisements.

Robert Aken was appointed chairman of the "Supper Date" program to be held Oct. 14. All reservations must be made by the next meeting.

Plans have been completed to host the Oak Glen and Philip Barbour football teams at a social after the Oct. 13 game. The affair will be catered. The Philip Barbour squad, from Philippi, will be guests of the Oak Glen players overnight, returning home Saturday.

A general discussion was held on the annual stag smoker for the coaching staffs of all Oak Glen football opponents. Further plans will be made after a tentative date is approved by Coach Robert Starkey.

An appeal has been issued for more active club members, with mothers and fathers of athletes invited to the meeting next Wednesday.

A report was made by President Francis Stephens that Wheeling Central has requested 1,000 student tickets and 500 adult reserved tickets for tonight's game, along with parking space for at least 13 buses. The boosters will provide free bus parking on their lot.

Coffee and doughnuts were served by Ray Sayre and Robert Aken.

50-Cent Piece, Unlike $2 Bill, Is Here To Stay

The Treasury Department plans to mint halves containing 40 per cent silver through next year. Officials are confident the coins will continue to circulate.

Even if the department ultimately decides to remove all silver from half dollars, it still plans to continue making them.

Despite record production of halves, the Treasury has been unable to satisfy the demand for them. It has declared the shortage of other coins at an end.

The department stopped making $2 bills last year because of lack of demand.

Robert A. Wallace, assistant secretary of the Treasury, said half dollars are apparently still being hoarded, although more and more of them are now circulating.

Woman Fined In Raid

WEIRTON — Justice of the Peace Thomas Bellanco Thursday fined Angela DiBenedetto, owner and operator of the R. and A. Lounge, Pennsylvania Ave., a total of $75 on charges of possession and sale of liquor without a license. West Virginia state police raided the tavern Sunday night.

Outlaw Racial Bias, Britain's Labor Unit Asks

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP) — British Laborites called on the government today to outlaw racial discrimination, which they said is spreading throughout the country.

Debate during the windup session of the ruling party's annual convention ended with unanimous passage of a resolution expressing concern at the extent of discrimination in employment, housing, insurance and other services. It also urged new laws to promote "equal opportunity without regard to race, color or ethnic or national origins."

Party leaders, after noting that certain new antidiscrimination laws are being prepared for parliamentary action, accepted the resolution.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson eft the convention unchallenged master of his party with more time to advance toward the frontiers of the great society he has promised to establish in Britain.

Anti-Viet War Resolution Gets Court Rejection

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court in a special decision issued Friday turned down a mandamus action brought by a Cleveland group seeking to place an anti-Vietnam war resolution on the November ballot in that city.

The high court's action paralleled a decision given Wednesday in a similar case. A mandamus action also had been filed with the court asking a similar resolution be placed on ballots in Lake County.

The Cleveland action had been brought by Franklin Anderson of Cleveland on behalf of a group seeking the vote. They had first petitioned City Council but petitions were turned down by the City Council clerk.

As in the Lake County case, the court held the state constitution restricts municipal initiative powers to "all questions which such municipalities may now and hereafter be authorized to control by legislative action." And as in the previous case, the court ruled that the city is limited to what is authorized by law in legislative action.

National associations of fur farmers in the four Nordic countries have approved plans for a 30 per cent cutback in Nordic mink production.

More Vehicles Titled By County

LISBON — Columbiana County titled 412 new vehicles worth $1,289,958 in September, according to Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey.

The number compares with 497 in September last year, but is the lowest since February this year.

Stacey said the title department also issued 3,202 auto titles, 49 duplicate titles, 682 memorandums, one duplicate memorandum, 1,206 notations of liens, 1,126 cancellations of liens and 1,151 acknowledgments.

The state treasurer received 11,294 from sales and use tax, $77,204 from the dealer's tax, $1,162 from car title fees and 706 from inspection certificates.

Stacey said the county treasurer was paid $7,585 in fees collected in Common Pleas Court and the Car Title Department.

Seventy-six civil cases were filed last month in Common Pleas Court, compared with 80 in September last year.

Hints from Heloise

—By Heloise Cruse—

DEAR MOTHER: Look at my blue jeans! It's all the fad now. . . .

YOUR DAUGHTER.

DEAR FOLKS: I found this note on my typewriter. Along with her blue jeans . . .

They were fringed on the bottom, and so adorable I decided to fringe mine, too.

Here's the easiest way I found to do it:

Take a razor blade and remove the hem. Wet a rag and iron the hem out straight. This is MOST important.

If you have any starch handy, give that a hit and miss, too. Then iron the hem straight. Remember that hem has probably been there a long time and you want the fringe to hang STRAIGHT.

I literally cut the double side seams out and then started pulling the threads loose as if you were making a one-inch fringe on a napkin. Then put those jeans on. Darling!

Also, when the jeans wear in the knees, cut them off and make fringed shorts out of them.

And what price teenagers? Perhaps they keep us young. (Or do they make us old? I can't figure that one out.)

This idea is especially wonderful for those jeans we mothers wear which are too short as it lets them down an inch or so. . . .

And if our daughters and sons are going to start a fad, why shouldn't we join the group? Nothing lost and it's free, too. . . .

ANOTHER MOTHER.

DEAR HELOISE: Children love to display their school papers and art work.

Get some small decorative magnets and put their work on the door of your refrigerator and freezer.

As they bring home new papers, they don't mind if the old are thrown away and new ones put up.

This makes a nice big bulletin board for the whole family to view.

MRS. BRUCE PRESLEY.

DEAR HELOISE: The other day I found a solution for my skirt linings.

I lined my skirt with an old half slip.

I just took out the elastic and opened the left side seam for the zipper and sewed it to the waist band of my new skirt.

Worked great and I like it much better than regular lining.

CAROL.

DEAR HELOISE: I have found that canned soups make good quick sauces.

MRS. C. W. HOLMES.

DEAR HELOISE: When my electricity went off about two o'clock one morning recently, it was cold outside and I was freezing with no electric blanket.

I had done as you said and kept my candle in the refrigerator. But I also had one carrot wrapped in wax paper — so you can guess what I was trying to light — the carrot!

MAHALA.

DEAR HELOISE: You know the children's car coats with attached hoods in which the drawstring in the hood is always coming out? I solved this for my children.

I pulled the string back through with a large safety pin. Then sewed a button at each end of the string a little larger than the holes. Now the string stays put and the buttons even add a bit of decoration.

New Trial Set In Bribery Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—The retrial of former Cleveland city councilman Michael Fatica has been set for Oct. 23. Fatica was convicted of bribery in 1964 after a 33-day trial before Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge John M. Manos.

An appellate court ordered a new trial on the basis that county prosecutor John T. Corrigan and Judge Manos commented before the jury that Fatica did not testify on his own behalf. Retrial date was set Thursday.

In 1965, the U. S. Supreme Court handed down a decision that no comment may be made on the failure of a defendant to take the witness stand.

Fatica was convicted of soliciting a $5,000 bribe from a restauranteur to help in the transfer of a liquor license. He was sentenced to one to five years in prison, but remains free on $1,000 appeal bond.

Security Lists Are Checked For Missing Notes

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City banks and financial institutions checked their securities lists today—looking for $1.7 million in missing U. S. Treasury notes that apparently were misplaced during a Wall Street bank transfer.

Police did not rule out the possibility of theft but were working on the assumption that the "easily negotiable" securities went astray in a mixup between one bank's messenger and another bank's clerk.

One of the notes is for $1 million and the others for $100,000 each. They are payable to the bearer and thus readily negotiable but one bank spokesman said that in practice it would be difficult for anyone to cash them.

The disappearance reported Thursday marked the third major loss of securities from a Wall Street institution within a month.

On Sept. 14 the investment firm of Hayden, Stone, Inc. listed the loss of $1.5 million in securities and a week ago police arrested a former bank clerk in the Sept. 8 theft of $1 million in IBM stock certificates from the Wall Street branch of the Toronto Dominion Bank.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Why Put Up With Double Chin?

What leads to a double chin and a creepy throatline? Improper head carriage is the basic cause. When you allow your head to droop forward like a sunflower, folds of soft flesh form under the chin. Double chins are not necessarily a subdivision of excess weight. Of course excess calories can snuggle under the chin for fat gravitates to flabby spots. The secret of a well-defined, beautiful throatline is in good muscle tone, not in fat padding or the lack of it.

Ida Jean Kain

Beauticians in dealing with a "slipping contour" pat on tingling astringents and bolster milady's chin with a supporting strap, icy cold. Such measures feel ever so bracing, but they are about as much permanent help as applying a band aid.

—:—

WITH ERECT head posture and a little daily exercise, the muscles of the throat stay bracingly on the job. Between the lower jaw and the collar bones is a thin sheet of muscle, the platysma, which contracts the skin on the front of the throat. With poor head posture this muscle becomes flabby, and often fat imbedded. With erect head posture, the head is properly balanced and all the muscles of the neck gain in tone.

Elegant head carriage is only possible with good general posture. When your body is in proper alignment from the base of the spine to the top of your head, the chin is held level and a double chin hasn't a chance.

Forget the old posture rules such as "shoulders back, chest out." That is over-correction. Keep in mind only one rule—up. Start the uplift with the lower abdominal muscles and contract with hip muscles. These two sets of muscles, working together, center the pelvis. Square your shoulders, but keep them down and relaxed. Hold your head up, chin level.

Position: Lie on back on floor, knees flexed, soles of feet flat on floor. Have arms out at shoulder level, elbows bent, forearms back on floor. This arm position squares the shoulders. Action: Pull up and in strongly with the lower abdominal muscles, pressing small of back flat against floor. Hold the muscle contraction for a slow count of six. Breathe normally. Repeat the exercise five times, twice daily.

The proper way to carry your head is squarely on your shoulders, with that line at the back of the neck almost straight, and the chin held level. That is elegant head carriage. Your style is the way you carry your head.

Send a stamped, self - addressed envelope for "Get A Lift With Posture." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review.

Hearing Planned In Zone Change

The City Planning Commission is scheduled to conduct a public hearing tonight at 7:30 at City Hall on applications to change the zoning of a tract of property in East End.

The request affects four lots on Pennsylvania Ave. and Virginia Ave. Now zoned for "medium high density residential use," the new classification sought by the owners would allow business use for the property.

The applications were filed by the First Federal Savings & Loan Association, covering property at 1044, 1046 and 1048 Pennsylvania Ave. and Henry and Sarah Ward for their property at 537 Virginia Ave. Both applications state that if the change in classification is granted the property would be used for a service station by the Bonded Oil Co. of Springfield.

The commission received the applications at its meeting Aug. 28, when the hearing date was set. It was required to give at least 30 days' public notice prior to the hearing.

Cranberry was originally crane-berry. The fruit is borne on curved stalks which suggest the neck of a crane.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Compromisers

Dear Ann: I was raised on a farm where the day began early. My wife was a city girl. She believed anything that happened before 8 a.m. wasn't worth getting up for.

When we were first married my wife made a half-hearted attempt to pull herself out of bed in the morning to fix breakfast like a martyr and let me know she was plenty unhappy about the sacrifices she was making to please me.

We ended up arguing almost every morning and both of us were miserable. Finally I told her to do me a favor and stay in bed and I'd get my own breakfast.

This has worked for 61 years, Ann, and I recommend it for all young couples who have this problem. Why spoil the day with an early morning argument when there's plenty of time to fight after supper? — A.D.M. ROCH., N.Y.

Dear A.DM: Anything that works for 61 years has got to be good! My congratulations to you both. Yours sound like people I'd love to know.

Family Fun

Dear Ann: Recently my husband and I received a engraved invitation to attend a wedding and reception. The invitation was addressed to "Mr. and Mrs." No mention was made of our three children (ages 9, 11 and 13; so we assumed they were not included.

When we arrived at the church, we were amazed to see dozens of children of all ages. My husband said to me, "We should have brought the kids." I told him they were not invited. He replied, "Well, I'd like to find out why all these kids were invited and ours weren't."

He went around at the reception and asked several parents if their children's names appeared on the invitation. They all said, "No. But we were sure they'd be welcome."

Now my husband is mad at me. He says our own kids were gypped out of a good time because of my high-falutin' ideas. Was I right or wrong?—FAMILY FIGHT.

Dear Family: The parents who brought their kids along because they were sure they'd be welcome were wrong—not you.

Good manners dicatate that the kids stay home unless they are specifically included. And this means either by name or the words "and Family" written on the invitation.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Military-Industrial Complex Seen Dominating Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., decrying the spending of billions of dollars on the supersonic transport plane and man-on-the-moon projects, says a "large military-industrial complex" dominates Congress.

Fulbright's comment came during a Senate battle with supporters of the proposed $4.6 billion space bill over the relatively small amount of $95.5 million.

A vote on the question was to be held today.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., backed by the potent Appropriations and Space committees, asked for this addition to the amount voted by the House.

Both the Senate and House previously slashed President Johnson's initial space budget request of $5.1 billion by $234 million in a prior authorization measure. The House cut another $282 million in the separate money bill.

Although President Johnson—pushing for congressional approval of his tax increase—announced he would accept the second cut, the Senate Appropriations panel restored the $95.5 million for future space programs.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., lost, after hours of angry debate, an effort to slash additional funding for the supersonic jet transport or SST from $143 million to $1 million.

Congress previously has supplied $511 million to build two prototypes of these huge commercial airliners, planned to carry 280 passengers at high speed and altitudes over the oceans.

Proxmire said the aviation industry—not taxpayers—should finance this costly venture, adding that only the jet set would use them if they ever are built.

Fulbright teamed with Proxmire as did Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., whose brother, President John F. Kennedy, put his country into the supersonic race with the Soviet Union's TU-144 and the Concorde, sponsored jointly by England and France.

Yes, experience has taught them that late fall and early winter is a sensible and far-sighted time to improve any lawn.

Even though grass is inactive above ground, root development can go on all through the winter months, ensuring a sturdier and earlier spring green-up — and thicker turf. And if you use Turf Builder there will be no loss of feeding power, no matter how low the temperature goes. Lebanon's Views On Middle East Awaited At U.N.

Lebanese foreign minister Georges Hakim ranges over the Middle East situation in his policy speech before the 122-nation General Assembly.

Hakim told a reporter this week that the Arab states decided at their recent summit conference at Khartoum to "choose the peaceful solution rather than one leading to war sooner or later."

"This means," Hakim said, "that if Israeli troops were withdrawn to positions occupied June 5, the Arab States would renounce the use of force and agree to the establishment of peaceful conditions in which the security and territorial integrity of all states in the region would be respected."

This was more moderate than the statements that Arab foreign ministers have been making in the assembly's policy debate.

By BILL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A. W. Willis, Tennessee's first Negro state legislator in more than half a century, couldn't put together a winning coalition Thursday and failed in a bid to become the first Negro mayor of a major Old South city.

Two men with experience in the job—incumbent Mayor William Ingram and former Mayor Henry Loeb—made it into the Nov. 2 runoff as Willis trailed fourth in his race against six white candidates.

The final vote in the fairly heavy balloting — attributed to Willis' presence in the race—gave Loeb 47,784 votes to 36,074 for Ingram and 30,979 for Shelby County Sheriff William Morris. Willis had 15,575.

Willis, twice elected to the state House of Representatives, had been conceded the majority of the Negro vote when the campaign started.

But the final tally showed he failed to hold the Negro vote and was unable to make serious inroads into the traditionally white voting structure.

In a statement conceding defeat, Willis said he was disappointed at the result but added that it could be expected because of "100 years of brainwashing."

Willis said however, he thought the race had raised questions "which will have to be answered later."

Ingram was the main beneficiary of the Negro vote which swung away from Willis, an attorney, civil rights leader and cofounder and president of a savings and loan association.

Loeb, who had resigned as mayor in the closing days of his term, led from the start in ballot counting Thursday night. He had been a member of the City Park Commission and the City Commission before he was elected mayor in 1959.

Ingram, an attorney, served five years as a city court judge before he was elected mayor in 1963.

Statistics are the lifeblood of sports, or at least sports writers.

Statistics in football and basketball are more imprecise. It takes spotters in football to tell who carried the ball and on what yard line it falls. From the vantage point of the press booth the yard line is sometimes a guess, hence the variance in statistics between people covering games. In basketball the action sometimes gets too torrid for even the most veteran scorer to determine who got how many rebounds.

BUT DESPITE any impreciseness, there are plenty of statistics available in football. Here are some.

John Schneider of Toledo is sixth in the country in total offense and Tom Sherman of Penn State is 19th. Bob Pfefferle of Toledo is 10th in rushing, teammate Roland Moss is 12th, Dick Conley of Ohio U. is 15th, Don Fitzgerald of Kent St. is 21st and Jack Foster of Western Michigan is 24th.

Sherman is 11th in passing, Schneider is 13th, Jim Boreland of Western Michigan is 16th and Jerry Buckmaster of Xavier is 23rd. Bob Campbell of Penn State leads the country in punting with a 48.9 average and Dale Livingston of Western Michigan is ninth.

Marty Barski of Western Michigan is seventh in pass receiving, Ted Kwalick of Penn State is eighth and Wil Perry of Kent State is 18th. Ken Juskowich of West Virginia is sixth in scoring and Garrett Ford of the Mounties is tied for eighth. Juskowich is second in scoring by kicking and John Mallory of WVU is third in punt returns, one place ahead of Bob Zimpfer of Bowling Green. Orin Richburg of Kent State is fourth in kickoff returns, and Lou Harris of the Golden Flashes leads in interceptions with five. Dave Hudson of Western Michigan is tied for eighth in interceptions.

TEAMWISE, Penn State is 12th in total offense and 11th in passing offense. Bowling Green is tough defensively, ranking third in total defense, seventh in running defense, eighth in passing defense and is tied for first in defense against scoring, with two shutouts. Toledo is 10th in total defense. No one from the state of Ohio is ranked in the small college statistics.

Among the pros, Leroy Kelly of the Browns is the leading rusher, with Bill Asbury and Jim (Cannonball) Butler of the Steelers fifth and eighth. Kelly is eighth in punting and Butler seventh in kickoff returns. Asbury is sixth in scoring. Frank Ryan of the Browns is eighth in passing and Dick Compton of the Steelers 10th in receiving.

LEETONIA WAS tied for 27th and Columbiana tied for 29th among the Class A schools in the UPI Ohio scholastic football poll. The AP poll had Leetonia tied for 35th and Columbiana tied for 40th.

DID YOU notice that Youngstown Cardinal Mooney beomed Youngstown East 76-14 last week, scoring 42 points in the second period?

BOB LONGO of Pitt and Ted Kwalick of Penn State, both ends, were named to the All-East football team this week.

THE PITTSBURGH Pipers of the new American Basketball Association lost their exhibition opener 125-99 to the Indiana Pacers. Connie Hawkins had 27, Tom Washington 20 and Charley Williams 19 for the Popers. Pittsburgh's other new pro team, the hockey Penguins, are doing better, with a 5-1-1 record in exhibition games to date.

SOPHOMORE Garland Hudson is expected to start for West Virginia tomorrow in its big clash with Pitt in place of injured Tom Digon. The Mountaineers will miss tight end Bob Zambo, sidelined for the season with a broken arm.

THE STATE of West Virginia is doing itself proud in soccer, of all sports, West Virginia U., which went to the NCAA tournament last year, is 3-0 this year, nipping highly-rated Akron 1-0 and rolling over West Virginia Wesleyan 7-1 and St. Francis (Pa.) 8-0. The Weirton entry in the Keysone League continues to win by big scores.

Javier's Double In 8th Lone Hit

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jim Lonborg woke up today and knew he was on the road for real. Carl Yastrzemski woke up and knew how good it felt to be able to sleep without taking a sleeping pill.

Collectively, the Boston Red Sox knew how it felt to be even with the St. Louis Cardinals again in the World Series.

The Red Sox pulled even at 1-Thursday by whipping the Cardinals 5-0 in Boston behind the one-hit pitching of Lonborg and the two-homer slugging of Yastrzemski.

The teams then moved to St. Louis where the Series will resume Saturday with Gary Bell, 13-13, pitching for the Red Sox and Nelson Briles, 14-5 going for the Cardinals.

Lonborg produced his masterpiece — he retired the first 19 batters he faced and didn't allow a hit until Julian Javier doubled with two out in the eighth — after foresaking his own bed again for a room at a downtown Boston hotel.

Yastrzemski, on the other hand, slept in his own bed Wednesday night, but he had to take a pill to get to sleep.

"I just wanted to make sure I got a good night's sleep," explained Lonborg, who did the same thing last Saturday night before pitching the pennant-clinching game against Minnesota.

He stayed at the hotel both times because he wanted to simulate road conditions. On the road there's no one to bother him the night before he pitches, and his record has shown the difference. At home this season he was 8-5, on the road 14-4.

Yastrzemski has his own sleeping problems.

Yastrzemski Takes Pill

"I'm a little nervous when I'm trying to go to sleep and sometimes I take a sleeping pill," explained the American League's Triple Crown winner who exploded from a hitless first game to a three-hit, four-run-batted-in second game.

"I took a pill last night, and I had nine hours of sleep," Yastrzemski said Thursday. "I won't need one tonight because we don't play tomorrow."

As nervous as he is away from the ball park — "I'm very nervous when I'm home eating breakfast" — Boston's brilliant left fielder is completely calm once he reaches the playing site.

Before the second game of the Series, Yastrzemski passed up batting practice because he had taken 20 minutes postgame bat work the day before. Instead, he climbed onto the trainer's table and took a 45-minute nap.

"When I don't take batting practice, I usually take a nap," he said. "The trainer woke me up at about a quarter to 12, and I felt great."

The Cardinals didn't feel too good a couple of hours later when Yastrzemski socked a 380-foot bases-empty homer in the fourth inning and a 430-foot blast with two on in the seventh.

First Homer Enough

"When I hit the first homer, I told Jim, 'You have enough, Big Guy. Go get 'em'."

Lonborg certainly did get them.

Then in the seventh Lonborg's chance to equal Don Larsen's perfect game feat in the 1956 Series evaporated. Curt Flood worked the count to 3-2, fouled off two pitches and then watched as the next pitch dipped low and outside for the fourth ball.

In the next inning, Lonborg also lost his no-hitter. He retired the first two batters on grounders, but Julian Javier swung at the first pitch and lined it down the left field line for a clean double.

That was the only hit the Cardinals got, and Lonborg became the fourth hurler to pitch a one-hitter in a Series game.

"I didn't care about the walk," said Lonborg, a prime candidate for the AL's Cy Young Award. "I'm not after my perfect game — yet. The no-hitter is what I wanted.

Hit Hanging Slider

"Javier hit a hanging slider. As soon as I threw it, I wanted it back. It was the only bad pitch I made all day.

"The no-hitter is the one goal that has eluded me during this fabulous season. I pitched in the All-Star game, I won 20 games (22, to be exact) and I pitched in the World Series. I'll get that no-hitter some day."

The Red Sox certainly wouldn't mind if that day is ext Monday when Lonborg is scheduled to start the fifth game.

In the meantime, he'll have to recover from a blister on his right thumb.

"It developed in the seventh inning, and it hurt his breaking ball at the end," Boston Manager Dick Williams said. "But there never was any thought of taking him out. He had a calloused area on the thumb, and when he pitches as hard as he did today sometimes it splits open."

While Lonborg was closing the doors on the Cardinals, who had collected 10 hits in the first game, Yastrzemski was breaking the game open.

He led off the fourth inning by rocketing a one-strike pitch from Dick Hughes about a dozen rows into the right field stands. After Boston scored on Rico Petrocelli's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the sixth, Yastrzemski went to work again.

"I was going for home runs all way," the left-handed slugger said. "Against Gibson (St. Louis' Bob Gibson) I didn't go for homers because I didn't feel really sharp. I just wanted to lay the bat on the ball.

"But when you feel good, you naturally go for home runs, and I felt exceptionally good. I just wanted to hit one out, shake something up."

Yaz, Lonborg Kiddingly Predict Star Performance

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski and Jim Lonborg, the big men on the Boston Red Sox, are a couple of pleasant fellows who like to kid with people, even going so far as making predictions in jest.

Now their crystal ball forecasts are virtually coming true in the World Series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I was kidding around and told someone I would hit two homers and get three hits today —but I was only kidding," Yastrzemski said Thursday after the Red Sox squared the Series at one game apiece with a 5-0 victory in Boston.

Yastrzemski, the American League's Triple Crown champion, made good on his prediction, belting a pair of homers, good for four runs batted in, and then singling in the eighth.

Lonborg just missed on his prediction, losing a no-hit bid on Julian Javier's two-out double in the eighth inning. Gentleman Jim had to settle for a one-hitter, only the fourth in World Series history.

For a while, it looked as if Lonborg would match Don Larsen, who pitched a perfect game in a 2-0 victory for the New York Yankees against the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1956.

"It was a good pitch, but I hit it just right," the slugging outfielder said. "I felt good, real sharp."

With runners on first and second and one out in the seventh, southpaw Joe Hoerner was summoned from the bullpen to pitch to Boston's left swinger. Yaz promptly unloaded on a 2-2 pitch and sent a booming shot into the bleachers beyond the Boston bullpen in right center.

In a similar situation just last Saturday, the Minnesota Twins called on southpaw ace Jim Merrit to face Yaz in the seventh inning. The result: a three-run homer in a 6-4 victory.

"The no-hitter is the one goal that has eluded me during this fabulous season," the lanky hurler said. "I pitched in the All-Star game, I won 20 and I pitched in the World Series. I'll get that no-hitter some day.

"I was joking about the no-hitter and going for it after we got that 5-0 lead," he said. "Then when Javier hit that hanging slider, it was agony for me—like someone sticking a knife through me. I was sick.

"Then Ellie (catcher Elston Howard) came out and told me to bear down. He said we had two outs and let's get the next batter."

Lefthanded Hurlers Can't Get Yastrzemski Either

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals can now join Manager Cal Ermer of the Minnesota Twins as a wrong guesser on how to pitch to Carl Yastrzemski.

Yaz proved both wrong by hitting three-run homers. His big blow in last Saturday's key game against the Twins wrapped up the victory 6-4 and sent the Red Sox on the way to the American League pennant.

His homer Thursday at Boston in the seventh, his second of the game, iced the victory for the Sox 5-0 and tied up the Series at one game apiece. The booming 430-foot homer in the Series came off Joe Hoerner who replaced Ron Willis when Yaz came to bat. His homer last Saturday against the Twins was off Jim Merritt, ace Minnesota reliever.

All the time his big bat was booming, Jim Lonborg, the big Red Sox right-hander, was setting down the Cardinals with mechanical precision. He had a perfect game going until he walked Curt Flood in the seventh, and a possible no-hitter until Julian Javier leashed a double to left with two out in the eighth. His sparkling one-hitter was only the fourth ever in a Series game.

Lonborg pitched with a painful blister on the thumb of his right hand from the seventh on. A callous area on the thumb split open under the pressure of the magnificent job he was doing on the mound, but no consideration was given to taking him out.

Yaz' first homer broke the ice for the Red Sox and put them in the lead 1-0. This was increased to 2-0 in the sixth when with one out, Hughes walked George Scott and Reggie Smith, and Jerry Adair was safe on Mike Shannon's error, loading the bases. Scott scored on Rico Petrocelli's sacrifice fly to center. The run was unearned because of the error.

Red Sox Scouting Pays Off

By BEN BROWN
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Dick Williams of the Boston Red Sox said the scouting reports on the St. Louis Cardinals worked perfectly Thursday.

"We knew what we should have done Wednesday," he said, "but we didn't do it."

The Red Sox whipped St. Louis 5-0 Thursday in Boston to even the 1967 World Series at a game apiece.

Manager Red Schoendienst of the National League champions said he planned no changes in his line-up for the third game. Williams had revamped the Boston line-up after the Red Sox dropped the first game 2-0.

In the St. Louis dressing room Thursday, there was more talk about Carl Yastrzemski's two homers than the brilliant one-hitter pitched by Jim Lonborg.

Dick Hughes, the starting Cardinal pitcher and second game loser, described Yastrzemski's first blast, a drive into the right field corner, this way:

"He hit a fast ball. I got the pitch about where I wanted it. You might say it was a half mistake and he made it a whole mistake."

The 29-year-old Hughes, a rookie, wasn't as sharp as normal, Schoendienst said. "And he tired some just before I took him out," the Cardinal skipper said.

Red Sox manager Williams said he wasn't concerned about the pressure of bouncing back from the first game loss.

"You should have been here during the season if you wanted to see some pressure," he said. Lonborg and Yastrzemski combined to give Boston a victory over Minnesota and the American League pennant on the last day of the season.

Elston Howard, a veteran of many World Series with the New York Yankees, said he called the pitch that Lonborg threw to Julian Javier and which was driven into the left field corner for a solid double. Javier's blow was the only St. Louis hit.

Len Dawson of Purdue is the only player to ever lead the Big 10 in passing three years in a row. He is also the only player to lead in total offense three years in a row.

Golden Bears, Leopards, Beavers At Home Tonight

12 Grid Games Slated In Area

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Though the Dayton Dunbar at East Liverpool football game tonight is the top attraction for local sports fans, there are nine games in the area tonight and three more tomorrow.

Oak Glen hosts Wheeling Central, Midland is visited by Seneca Valley and Beaver Local entertains United. Also, tonight Columbiana is at home to Canfield, East Palestine is at Lisbon, Leetonia welcomes Minerva, Southern Local hosts Greenford and Stanton Local travels to Adena.

Tomorrow afternoon South Side entertains Millvale and tomorrow evening Western Beaver takes on Avonworth at Midland and Crestview is home to McDonald.

Oak Glen won its first of the year last week after three losses, but Bob Starkey's club will be hard pressed to repeat this week. Central is 5-0, ranked sixth in the state and leads the Mountaineer League. The Knights have allowed only a total of six points in five games while averaging 25 a contest themselves. Pat Korsnick, their quarterback, was a preseason selection as one of the top 10 high school players in the country. He has scored 39 points and rushed for 201 yards. Top rusher for the Knights is George Sleime, who has amassed 504 yards and three TDs. Last week Sleime gained 124 yards as the Knights downed Follansbee 27-0. Follansbee beat Oak Glen 13-6, with Guy Casinelli hitting 9 of 18 passes. Central held Casinelli to 2 of 9 with 3 interceptions.

Midland and Seneca Valley match 2-2 marks. Seneca is a jointure of the Zelienople and Evans City school districts, and is a Class A school. The Raiders have beaten Freedom 31-20 and Moon 20-19 and lost to Beaver 52-6 and North Hills, an AA school, 14-6. Midland coach Joe Hamilton fears Seneca's passing attack. "They have a good quarterback and two good receivers and they pass 60-70 per cent of the time," he notes.

Frank Granito, who kicked the winning extra point last week for Midland despite a heel injury, will be able to play, though Pat McShane will start in his place at offensive tackle. Bill Love will be a starting defensive tackle in place of Paul Francis, who has a sprained ankle. Albert (Bub) Bynum suffered a bruised side in a reserve game, but it is hoped that he will be ready to see some action at halfback.

BEAVER LOCAL, 2-2, hopes to extend its winning streak to three against United, which won its first last week after three losses. Tom Woods is the big gun for the invaders, as he gained 277 yards rushing and also returned a kickoff 80 yards in the Golden Eagles' win over Springfield Local (Mahoning). Don Ross' club seems to be rolling now that Rex Campbell has returned at end to catch the passes of Dennis Klembara.

Columbiana, 4-0 overall and leading the Tri-County League with a 2-0 mark, plays a non-league foe in Canfield, 2-1-1. Bill Ward leads the runners of Ray Bellisari's team and George Lynn is the defensive standout. Canfield has beaten Poland 17-8 and Liberty 24-8, tied Salem 0-0 and lost to East Palestine 16-12. Columbiana topped Poland, the only common opponent, 28-6, and also beat Beaver Local, Carrollton and Minerva.

East Palestine at Lisbon is a battle for survival in the Tri County League, with both teams 1-1 in the loop and 3-1 overall. Bud Bucher's Blue Devils have beaten Southern Local, Youngstown North and Poland, while falling to Minerva. The Bulldogs of Bill Offenbacker started with wins over Canfield, West Branch and Sebring before losing to Leetonia last week. Lisbon has a fine backfield with Randy Muntean quarterbacking and Gary Toot, Bill Farmer and John Morgan running the ball. Joe Thompson and Joe Lewis are the leading rushers for East Palestine.

LEETONIA IS 4-0, but coach Dick Hartzell is worried about Minerva, 2-2. "Every other week they play well, and this is their week", Hartzell said. Indeed, the Lions beat Newton Falls 42-30 and Lisbon 32-0 four and two weeks ago while falling to Sandy Valley 32-8 and Columbiana 27-0 in between. Fullback Terry Walker and tailback Kim Elliott are backfield standouts and the Betts brothers, Sam and Steve, are tough in the line. Sam is 225 and plays offensive end, while Steve is 220 and plays offensive guard. Both play defensive tackle. The Bears are led by quarterback Ed Casey, halfback Ken DiCross, fullback Dan Bell and end Jim DeJane. They are not suffering any injuries.

Southern Local, 1-2, had last week off, and hopes to even its record against Greenford, 0-4. The invaders have lost to Jackson-Milton, Mineral Ridge, North Lima, and McDonald, all by big margins. Jack McPherson is a new coach at the school that has won only one game in 4½ years. Beau Bell's club lost to Lisbon 26-7 and Stanton Local 40-16 and squeezed in a 12-6 win over Springfield Local (Jefferson). Sophomore end Frank Francis has played well for the Indians so far.

Adena is another hapless foe, having scored only 6 points and given up 118 in four games. Stanton, 2-2, hopes to up that mark. Ken Woods' team has beaten Hopedale and Southern Local while losing to Mt. Pleasant and Wayne. Fullback Elmer Tice is the big noise for the Red Raiders.

South Side hopes to give Don Charlton his first victory as a head coach when Millvalle visits tomorrow at 1:30. The Rams are 0-4 and Millvale 1-2-1. Millvale fell to Rankin 20-0 and Sharpsburg 27-7, tied Neville 6-6 last week and beat Etna 13-0. South Side fell to Sharpsburg 38-6 last week.

Western Beaver, 2-2, takes on winless Avonworth at Midland at 8 p. m. The Antelopes have lost to Neville 26-13, to Crafton 40-6, to Etna 12-6 and to Avalon 33-7. Dan Sekeres' team, in its first league encounter with a Class B foe, has fallen to Midland 25-0 and Quaker Valley 19-0 while topping West Allegheny 19-13 and Mars 20-7. Joe Rasillo runs the Golden Beaver attack.

Crestview, 2-2, faces unbeaten McDonald in an Inter-County League game. McDonald has beaten Leavittsburg 26-6, Jackson - Milton 12-6, Western Reserve 28-14 and Greenford 40-0. Crestview fell to Mineral Ridge 20-6, beat Southington 32-6, blanked Lowellville 28-0 and was edged by North Lima 8-6 last week. Joe Remish is the top runner for Dick Scarborough's Rebels.

Disappointing Miami Faces Tulane Greenies Tonight

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The University of Miami's sputtering Hurricanes go after their first victory of the season tonight when they meet Tulane in the Orange Bowl.

Coach Charlie Tate plans to go with junior quarterback David Olivo in an effort to pull the Hurricanes, nationally-ranked in preseason polls, out of a two-game tailspin.

Tate alternated Olivo with senior Bill Miller in last week's 17-8 upset loss to Penn State.

The nations Big Three Southern California, Houston and UCLA—put three-game winning strings on the line against Stanford, North Carolina State and Penn State, respectively, in Saturday's headline games.

Miami was upended by Northwestern 12-7 and knocked out of the Top Ten in its season opener two weeks ago, then bowed to an alert, aggressive Penn State team in the Orange Bowl last Friday night.

Tulane, which dropped its first game to Miami of Ohio 14-3, bounced back last week and walloped North Carolina 36-11. It was the Green Wave's biggest point spree in seven years.

The Greenies, who tied Miami 10-10 last season at New Orleans, will be seeking their first victory in three trips to the Orange Bowl. They lost 26-7 in 1959 and 21-0 in 1964 at Miami and trail in the series 4-2-1.

Southern Cal's top-ranked Trojans, led by speedster O. J. Simpson, rate a three-touchdown choice over Pacific 8 foe Stanford Saturday night at Los Angeles. Houston's high-scoring Cougars, No. 2 in the nation, are top-heavy favorites to handle visiting N.C. State in another arclight test.

UCLA's explosive Bruins, with Gary Beban calling the shots, visit Penn State in an afternoon game and No. 4 Purdue, conqueror of Notre Dame last week, entertains Northwestern in a Big Ten opener.

Fifth-ranked Georgia plays host to South Carolina; No. 6 Notre Dame rebounds against visiting Iowa; No. 7 Nebraska is at Kansas State; No. 8 Colorado is at home against Iowa State and No. 9 Alabama takes on visiting Mississippi. No. 10 Texas Tech hosts Mississippi State in a night game.

Browns Choice Over Steelers

By JACK HAND

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams and Baltimore Colts should roll along toward their big battle in Baltimore Oct. 15 by knocking off the 49ers and the Bears this weekend as the pro football season begins to heat up in the midst of the World Series.

Green Bay figures to get even for that opening day tie with Detroit in the first rematch of the NFL season and Joe Namath should give that south Oakland defense more than it can handle at Shea Stadium.

An 8-4 record last week brought the season total to 25-9-1 (NFL 17-6-1 and AFL 8-3). Let's try again. All games are Sunday unless otherwise indicated.

NFL

Cleveland 24, Pittsburgh 21 (Saturday night)—Watch out for this one. Steelers always rough for Browns even when they were in the cellar but loss of Bill Nelsen was tough blow. Forget the whole bit if Frank Ryan's shoulder keeps him out. We'll take a raincheck.

Los Angeles 30, San Francisco 17—Might be spot for Ram letdown after tough Dallas test but this is war — San Francisco vs. Los Angeles. Rams won preseason game 34-7 and running attack even stronger than expected.

Baltimore 31, Chicago 14 — John Unitas has found a new target in Ray Perkins to go with Willie Richardson and John Mackey. Colts have most explosive offense in league and Bears have one of worst, except for Gale Sayers.

Green Bay 21, Detroit 10 — Lions ran up 17-0 lead on Packers in opener when Green Bay was lucky to get tie. Ailing Bart Starr gives way to Zeke Bratkowski. Packer defense will carry the day. They have given up only 27 points in three games.

Dallas 31, Washington 30 — They are fighting for first or a piece of first in the Capitol Division. Clubs split two wild ones last year, Cowboys winning 31-30 and Skins 34-31. Time for Dallas to get move on if it's going to successfully defend.

St. Louis 27, Minnesota 17 — Young Jim Hart came into his own last week against Detroit. Vikings still having troubles, except for fourth quarter, but Joe Kapp may help. Card defense showing signs of wear and tear.

New York 34, New Orleans 21 — And when were the Giants 10-point favorites last? Fran Tarkenton should have big day but that Giant defense still leaks. Giants' home opener.

AFL

New York 21, Oakland 20 (Saturday night) — If Namath is hot, the Jets should win by a nose. Oakland thinks this is the year and Raiders' stingy defense has given up only 28 points in three games.

San Diego 30, Boston 20 — Chargers won first game in San Diego by two touchdowns and get big break in transfer of second game to home stadium after World Series conflict in Boston.

Buffalo 14, Denver 10 — Bills still bogged down in bad slump but Broncos have given up 21 touchdowns in five games. That should be enough tonic to snap Buffalo out of it.

Kansas City 35, Miami 14 — Chiefs take it out on Dolphins after last week's loss to Oakland.

A. J. Vaughn Sets Record For Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — A. J. Vaughn's 555-yard pickup against the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee last Saturday has moved the Wayne State, Mich., quarterback into second place in total offense among the nation's small-college football players.

Statistics compiled by National Collegiate Sports Services showed today that Vaughn has gained 710 rushing-passing yards compared to 772 for the leader, Joe Stetser of Chico State, who won the title last year.

Steter, who is also the leader in pass completions with 72 in 137 attempts for 758 yards, has played three games. Vaughn has played only two. The latter's total offense yards against UW Milwaukee was an all-time high for a small-college player.

Doug Van Boven of Central, Ia., is another double leader. He scored four touchdowns against Upper Iowa and moved into a tie for first place in scoring with Charlie Williams of Arkansas AM&N. Each has 54 points. Van Boven also is No. 1 in rushing with 600 yards.

East Wins Grid Title

East Junior High won the city football championship yesterday with a 22-14 win over Westgate at Patterson Field.

Ralph Seevers was the star for the winners, scoring two TDs and an extra point and passing for the third touchdown. Seevers intercepted a pass and ran it 30 yards for the first score, he rolled out and ran 10 yards for the second TD and passed 35 yards to Jim Moore for the last East tally. Seevers rolled out and ran the conversion after the second touchdown and Steve Morris made the final extra point on a run.

For Westgate, Joe March returned a punt 65 yards for their first score and Randy McVay connected with Clete Payne on a 20-yard pass for another TD. McVay passed to March for the conversion. Bob Beem, center and linebacker for Westgate, played well.

2 Get Perfect Score During Club's Shoot

The next shoot will be Sunday at 1 p. m. at the range.

Boosters Meet, Discuss Projects

The coaches discussed a money-making plan to be carried out by themselves and the players. The boosters reported on a car wash run by Mrs. Carol Pearson and she was put in charge of another car wash to be held tomorrow at the MA parking lot from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mrs. Jean Adkins reported that she had acquired 11 sponsors for her programs which are sold at the games. Mrs. Anna Jones gave the treasurers report.

About 35 attended the meeting, which was under the direction of Mrs. Ray Rigdon, president. The next meeting will be Oct. 17 at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. office on Sixth St.

May Name Lum Harris Brave Chief

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Luman Harris, who once yielded the Baltimore baseball managing job to Billy Hitchcock, was expected to be named Hitchcock's successor as field manager of the Atlanta Braves today.

The Braves called an afternoon news conferece at the St. Louis headquarters of the World Series. Braves Vice President Paul Richards previously had said the team would name a maager during the series.

Harris, who for years has been closely associated with Richards, has been the leading candidate for the job for more than a month although Hitchcock was fired only last week.

George Welsh, star quarterback at Navy 1953-55, is the offensive backfield coach at Penn State.

Pitt-W. Virginia Battle Expected To Be Sellout

By Ed Tunstall

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (AP) — There's no Little Brown Jug, or even a big one for that matter, at stake but a football series filled with memorable games will be renewed Saturday when Pittsburgh and West Virginia meet before a sellout crowd.

The expected 36,000 fans--only the sixth sellout in the 44-year history of Mountaineer Field—recall Pitt's last visit here in 1965. That game ended 63-48 with statisticians talking to themselves.

West Virginia's injury-afflicted squad will be out to hang up its fourth victory after being manhandled 23-6 by Syracuse last Saturday. End Bob Zambo, who suffered a broken arm on a punt return, is lost to the Mountaineers for the year. And Bob Siegfried, injured on the same play, is a doubtful starter, as is starting quarterback Tom Digon.

"No doubt about it, we've got our hands full," said West Virginia coach Jim Carlen. "We're going to go after them but we've got a lot of kids hurt.

Pitt has had its early season troubles under coach Dave Hart, like Carlen starting his second season as head coach. The Panthers took a 40-8 drubbing from powerful UCLA in the opener and bowed 34-6 to Illinois last weekend.

The West Virginians may be hurting but Hart has a healthy respect for the Mountaineers.

"I'm very much impressed with them defensively," Hart said, of the Mountaineers, "particularly their quickness."

Hart said West Virginia tailback Garrett Ford, who has been slowed by injuries all season, is "still the great threat he's always been.

"Ford may be injured but it was not apparent in any of the films I saw," Hart said.

In the over-all picture, Hart said the Mountaineers appear to be a much better team than last year when Pitt squeaked past them 17-14 for the Panthers' only 1966 victory.

Carlen gave at least a verbal shudder when he talked about the Pitt passing game.

Split end Bob Longo is a top offensive threat, Carlen said, while George Medich, moved to right end for the Panthers, will be another problem.

"And if Frank Gustine has a good day," Carlen said in referring to one of Pitt's quarterbacks, "Well, it's going to be tough, real tough."

Carlen said Ford may or may not see action Saturday. He said Ford has been working only lightly this week and everything depends on how his injured ankle responds.

Sophomore Garland Hudson, a 190-pounder from Newport News, Va., takes over as the starting quarterback with Digon a doubtful starter at best. Hudson, who spelled Digon in the first three games, has connected on 12 of 18 tosses for 139 yards and one touchdown.

The Pitt series is the oldest on the Mountaineers' schedule and is second only to Penn State for Pitt. The Panthers have won 42 while losing 16 and one game ended in a tie.

Dinner Will Precede Reunion Of Gridders

A dinner at 5:30 p.m. at the Elks Lodge will precede the reunion of the 1927 and 1928 East Liverpool High School football teams tonight.

The dinner will be served by Lady Elks. The old - timers then will board a bus to go to Patterson Field to attend the East Liverpool - Dayton Dunbar game. They will return to the lodge home by bus for a social hour after the game.

The 1927 and 1928 East introduced during the half-time ceremony. Taps will be sounded for 14 deceased members of the squads. The former players said friends of members of the two squads may attend the social hour in the grill room and meet Joe Hurst of New Philadelphia, who was the coach.

Dick Gibbs, a defensive halfback for Iowa, was credited with 49 unassisted tackles last season.

Sanders, Casper Lead Golf

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—America's Doug Sanders, Billy Casper and Gardner Dickinson and 22-year-old Englishman Brian Barnes went into the second round today as leaders of the 72-hole Alcan Golfer of the Year Tournament—and the weatherman predicted stormy conditions for the next three days.

Sanders, of Tulsa, Okla., Casper, of Peacock Gap, Calif., and Dickinson, of Lost Tree Village, Fla., all shot four-under-par 68s in the first round and the only English player to match them was young Barnes.

The sun was shining Thursday and there was only a slight wind as 19 golfers—11 Americans, seven Britons and New Zealander Bob Charles—began chasing the first prize of $55,000. Thats the biggest first prize ever offered in professional golf.

Stage Queen Shoots For 7th Straight

By The Associated Press

Queen of the Stage figures to have the Aqueduct stage pretty much to herself Saturday when she goes after her seventh victory in an unbeaten season.

The Ogden Phipps' miss, thought by many to be the best 2-year-old regardless of sex in trainer Eddie Neloy's barn, goes in the one mile of the $75,000-added Firzette — richest race on the national card.

The well named daughter of Bold Ruler-Broadway by Hasty Road has chalked up four stake triumphs. She won the Sorority at Monmouth, Astoria and Matron at Aqueduct and the Spinaway at Saratoga in her last out.

Aqueduct officials don't expect the Queen to have many rivals. As they looked over the prospective field Thursday, the only definite opponents they could come up with were Gay Matelda and Syrian Sea from C. T. Chenery's Meadow Stable.

Junior Editors Quiz on MEDICINE

QUESTION: Who invented medicine?

ANSWER: Ancient, primitive people thought that disease was caused by evil spirits and should be treated by magic. More reasonable ideas came in with Egyptian times. But it was the Greek physician Hippocrates, the Father of Medicine, living in the 400's B. C., who first began the investigation and treatment of disease in a logical, scientific spirit. As scientific knowledge grew, medicine grew with it. The Roman, Galen, studied the workings of the body, a study carried much further by the Belgian Vesalius in the 1500's. In the early 1600's, a great stride was made by Harvey, an Englishman, who proved that blood circulates in the body. In the 1800's, medicine leaped ahead as Pasteur and Koch showed that disease was caused by germs. Joseph Lister used this knowledge to sterilize instruments—in surgical procedures. About the same time, anaesthesia, a way to put patients to sleep during an operation, was discovered. Then came such startling developments as X-rays, by which a doctor can see through a body, and penicillin, the first antibiotic, or wonder drug. These are only a few highlights in medicine's inspiring history; many other discoveries remain for the future.
